WINDSOR PARK'S CHARM SPIRIT TO THE FORE AT FLEMINGTON

Heirborn remains unbeaten from two starts after scoring at Flemington (Bruno Cannatelli).

The impressive run of form of progeny from the first-crop of star miler Charm Spirit continued on Saturday when Heirborn (NZ) (Charm Spirit) defied a moderate tempo and a wide passage to close well from the rear and claim the VRC Member Helen Saffin Handicap (1400m) at Flemington.

The Anthony Freedman-trained three-year-old is now unbeaten in his two starts and is expected to progress further with time and a step-up in distance, whether that be this preparation or in the autumn for the gelding who holds a nomination for the Gr.1 Caulfield Guineas (1600m).

"He is a very genuine horse and we have liked him from day one," stable foreman Sam Freedman said.

"He has just got the best attitude and he is so relaxed and hopefully he can stretch out over a bit further.

"He is just a big frame. He has really got to fill into himself and the way he raced there he looks like he is looking for the mile now, but we will get him home and Anthony will map a plan from there.

“Ben Melham has trialled him twice on soft going and really didn’t think he handled it that well, so it is fairly exciting to think he should improve on top of the ground.”

Freedman admitted he had butted heads with his father when purchasing the son of Charm Spirit and Zabeel mare Zaloot for $125,000 as a yearling.

“He didn’t really like him, he thought he had long pasterns, but hopefully it can all work out now,” he said.

A half-brother to the Ciaron Maher and David Eustace-trained stakes winner Naantali (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle), Heirborn was bred by Windsor Park Stud’s Marketing Manager Mike Moran and his wife Helen, in conjunction with friends Chris and Carol Chamberlain.

“He’s a lovely horse who they have told us from day one has something special about him,” Moran said.

“He was sold in Melbourne but several of our friends have been able to take a share in him.

“He’s from a fast family with his older half-sister Naantali being a stakes winner over 1400m but he looks like he might be able to stretch out over more ground.

“He’s likely to have a wee break now and then they might look at races like the Carbine Club Stakes (Gr.3, 1600m) on the last day of the Melbourne Cup Carnival or the Sandown Guineas (Gr.2, 1600m).”

A triple Group One winning miler, Charm Spirit is the highest earning son of leading international sire and sire of sires Invincible Spirit.

Charm Spirit has made a strong start to his stud career with seven individual winners of ten races from his first crop, which have just turned three.

His best southern hemisphere performer to date is the Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman-trained Group Two winner Aretha, who is being aimed at the Gr.1 New Zealand 1000 Guineas (1600m) this term.

Charm Spirit was also represented by impressive debut winner Leporem Star at Ballarat on Friday for trainer Robert Hickmott and a large contingent of New Zealand owners.

The Windsor Park Stud shuttle stallion has been represented by a number of promising late-season two-year-olds, which bodes well for the future, including Sansom (NZ) who finished close up behind Heirborn on Saturday after three consecutive victories.

“That’s a great result for Charm Spirit to have two winners in 24 hours in Australia and especially a metropolitan winner on a Saturday,” Windsor Park Stud’s co-owner and stud master Rodney Schick said.

“Charm Spirit did a great job with his two-year-olds last season and we knew that his progeny were only going to get better with a bit of age on them, so to start the season like this is fantastic.

“He (Charm Spirit) doesn’t have a full book at this stage so those performances should be a big boost to get some more bookings for him.”

Charm Spirit stands at a fee of $18,000+GST at Windsor Park Stud this season.

MY PENDANT LEAVES IT LATE AT FLEMINGTON

Under the urgings of jockey Damien Oliver, progressive mare My Pendant (NZ) (Pins) has got the job done as a short-priced favourite at Flemington.

But only just.

The Danny O'Brien-trained My Pendant was the $1.80 favourite in Saturday's VRC Member Peter Cosgriff Handicap (1400m) and needed all of the Flemington straight to overhaul Special Diva (Snitzel), who proved tough to chase down in the heavy conditions after getting a nice run in front.

My Pendant had to come from back in the field and still had a length to make up in the final 100m but kept eating into the margin and lunged late to score by a short half-head, with 2-1/4-lengths to Shokora (Nicconi) third.

"I was a bit concerned there at one stage but when I really asked her she found enough," Oliver said.

My Pendant took her record to four wins from eight starts and the four-year-old has only finished outside the top two once, when unplaced in the Group Three Vanity at the end of her previous campaign.

The mare is expected to get her chance at stakes level again this spring but first O'Brien plans to run her in a 1400m handicap for mares at Caulfield in three weeks.

"There's three or four stakes races for mares over 1400 metres, both here and at Caulfield, between now and the end of the spring. So I'm sure she will get her chance in one of them," O'Brien said.

JINDA VICTORY REDUCES NUGENT'S CITY CLAIM

Apprentice Teo Nugent is quickly rising through the ranks and has recorded a milestone victory aboard Jinda (NZ) (Savabeel) at Flemington.

The win on the Chris and Pat Hyland-trained stayer in Saturday's VRC Member Paul Barnard Handicap was the apprentice's 20th metropolitan, reducing Nugent's city claim to 2kg.

Backed from $31 to $21 and relishing the heavy conditions, Jinda raced to a 2-1/4 length win from Sopressa (So You Think) with Mazaz (Galileo) a further two lengths away third.

The win was Nugent's first for the new racing season with the apprentice holding ambitions of winning the Melbourne metropolitan apprentices' title this season.

"That's my three kilos gone as of today and the first winner for the season," he said.

"I've had that many seconds and thirds lately, so it's super.

"I want to try and eat away as much of my claim as I can this season, but the major goal is the metro apprentices' title after I won the Victorian overall title last season."

The Hyland partnership has been in

Jinda relished the heavy conditions at Flemington (Bruno Cannatelli) top form with three winners from their past three metropolitan starters.

Chris Hyland said he and his father had scaled back their operation with only 12 horses in work at Cranbourne and credited owner Robert Anderson for Saturday's success.

"I was wanting to run her in a restricted race on Wednesday, but he said the breed love the wet and she's down in the weight," Hyland said.

DASHING DISPLAY SECURES GRAND NATIONAL FOR IT'S A WONDER

Waverley visitor It's A Wonder (NZ) (Istidaad) never gave his rivals a look in as he produced a dashing front-running performance to take out the 145th edition of the Racecourse Hotel & Motor Lodge Grand National Steeplechase (5600m) at Riccarton on Saturday.

The Harvey Wilson-trained nine-year-old had loomed as a serious contender for today's contest after an effortless win in last Saturday's traditional lead-up, the Koral Steeplechase (4250m).

That victory secured the Istidaad gelding favouritism for the National however there were many, including his trainer, who held a niggling doubt about his ability to last a tough slog in testing conditions over the 5600m journey.

Those doubts were smashed to pieces as rider Shaun Phelan called the tune throughout on his mount who had his eight rivals under heavy pressure as he upped the tempo with 1600m to run.

Despite getting tired in the final stages, It's A Wonder never looked like being run down as he cruised over the line more than twenty lengths to the good of Gagarin (NZ) (Pentire), who chased bravely ahead of Mr Enthusiastic (NZ) (Lucky Unicorn) and Des De Jeu (NZ) (Mettre en Jeu).

A jubilant Phelan admitted he was feeling lonely at times with such a large break on the field and resorted to singing his favourite tune to keep his concentration up.

"I just thought I'd let him do what he does best which is to roll along," Phelan said.

"She was lonely out there in front and I think I sang my favourite song, Blurred Lines, about three or four times.

"Coming to the last fence I was just praying it would come up right and it came up great.

"Harvey (Wilson) is one of the best jumps trainers but he's never really had a good go at one of these big races. He's found the right horse to do it today.

"He's such a great conditioner of a horse, that's why I rode him how I did as I knew he would be the fittest horse in the race."

Wilson, who was struggling to keep his emotions in check as he took in congratulations on the victory, admitted he was hoping for a postponement of the day's racing due to the heavy rain that had seen the going downgraded to a very deep and testing Heavy11.

"We were actually hoping they might put the races off as we weren't confident at all with this rain," he said.

"Shaun was fantastic, he (It's A Wonder) jumped fantastic, what a thrill.

"This is as good it gets."

It's A Wonder took his career record to eight wins from 49 starts for the Wilson family who narrowly missed a notable double after Bad Boy Brown was narrowly beaten in Wednesday's Grand National Hurdles (4200m). – NZ Racing Desk

TE AKAU CONFIRM FOXBRIDGE RIDERS

Te Akau trainer Jamie Richards has confirmed riding engagements for Te Akau star pair Melody Belle and Te Akau Shark for the Group 2 US Navy Flag Foxbridge Plate.

In the first Group 2 race of the New Zealand season, Te Akau stable jockey Opie Bosson will be ride Te Akau Shark and Michael McNab is aboard Melody Belle.

Te Akau Principal David Ellis is impressed with how hard both jockeys have been working and in the last five weeks.

"Opie and Michael have been riding an enormous amount of work in Matamata for Te Akau. They then drive out to Te Akau Stud where they have been training really hard in the gym for a minimum of one hour."

"I have never seen these guys try so hard, and boy, are they fit. I am so predicting a very big season for both Opie and Michael."

Fortuna Director John Galvin said the syndicate was thrilled to have the services of Michael McNab.

"Michael has already won a Group One on Melody Belle (Manawatu Sires Produce) and we have always regarded him as a top class rider."

BLUE BREEZE TAKES FIRST STEP TO THE BIG SHOW

Promising stayer Blue Breeze (NZ) (Bullbars) took the first step on the path to a potential Melbourne Cup bid with a dominant first-up victory over 1400m at Pukekohe on Saturday.

Sporting the colours of his new part-owners, Cambridge Stud couple Brendan and Jo Lindsay, the Bullbars six-year-old was expected to be running on strongly over the 1400m journey but not as a winning prospect.

Suited by a fast pace set up by Admiral (NZ) (Align) and He's Cavalier (NZ) (Castledale) on the tricky Heavy11 conditions, Blue Breeze showed a touch of class as he stormed home out wide for apprentice Erin Leighton to round up the leaders and cruise to a comfortable one and a half-length victory.

Breeder and part-owner Tony Gavigan was thrilled with the performance as he outlined the potential road ahead for the Allan Morley-trained gelding, who finished third behind Glory Days (NZ) (Red Giant) in the Gr.1 Auckland Cup (3200m) to round out his last campaign.

"I think he's the best handicapped two-miler in New Zealand at the moment," Gavigan said.

"Clearly Glory Days is a notch above us but I think she is going to get a bit more weight than we will (moving forward).

"That was everything you could ask for and what a lovely ride by Erin.

"It was always going to be a raffle with the track as we never knew how he was going to handle it like that first-up, but he did get second here at his second start over 1400m (in similar conditions)."

A start at Ellerslie in a fortnight awaits Blue Breeze as he prepares for the acid tests ahead in an attempt to secure a berth in the Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m) field.

"He will go to Ellerslie in a fortnight over 1500m which will be tougher than this," Gavigan said.

"Then we will go to the Wyong Cup (Listed, 2100m) on September 6 and then the Newcastle Cup (Gr.3, 2300m) on the 20th.

"If we can win that one, I think we can get enough weight to get in the (Melbourne) Cup."

Saturday's victory took Blue Breeze's career record to four wins and six placings from just 25 starts.

TRAVELLING COMPANION CAUSES DOOMBEN UPSET

Mackay trainer John Manzelmann's decision to put some stayers on the float to Brisbane to accompany his runner in a Highway race paid off when one of them caused a huge upset at Doomben.

Calypso Bay (NZ) (High Chaparral) stormed home late to beat Harper's Choice (Street Cry) by a neck with a length to Exoteric (Champs Elysees) third in the TAB Handicap (2200m).

Manzelmann is noted for travelling horses and at his previous start Calypso Bay had run unplaced at Middlemount in Central Queensland.

However, he rarely comes to Brisbane and decided to put five other horses on the float to accompany his Highway Plate runner Baker's Dozen (Captain Gerrard).

The Highway is Queensland's answer to a popular series of races run in NSW.

"I was attracted by the chance to bring a horse to Brisbane for the new Highway race and decided I might as well bring some others," Manzelmann said.

"I had three in the Open Handicap and I suppose any one of them winning was a bit of a surprise."

Calypso Bay ran fifth in the Townsville Cup last month but Manzelmann said he didn't take the gelding even further north for the Cairns Cup which was also run on Saturday.

"This race suited him a lot better and it has paid off," Manzelmann said.

Calypso Bay was trained in Brisbane by Darryl Ward and won the Deagon Cup four runs back before being sent north.

"Really his form wasn't that bad but obviously not many others agreed," he said. -AAP

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SINGAPORE AS MAJULAH SCORES

Majulah brings up his second win almost two years after his last (Singapore Turf Club)

If there was one horse who had to win on August 9, it is Majulah (NZ) (Postponed) – and he sure rose to the occasion!

With his previous record of one win and six placings in 34 starts, the New Zealand-bred six-year-old is no superstar by any stretch of the imagination. His one and only victory was recorded nearly two years ago when then prepared by trainer Mok Zhan Lun.

But with a name inspired by Singapore’s national anthem, Majulah

Singapura (Onward Singapore in English), what more fitting time for the Class 5 cellar dweller to come up and trumps on the country’s 54th National Day.

It was obviously not the rousing reception that a winner of a race like the $30,000 Class 5 Division 2 race over 1200m on Polytrack would draw, and no doubt the patriotic red and white fervour at the National Day Parade held at the Padang later will be much more effervescent, but Majulah still returned to scales to some cheers for Singapore.

“Majulah Singapura! It’s National Day! Happy Birthday, Singapore!” could be heard from the few delighted racegoers scattered around the other side of the rails.

While Marsh, who is from New Zealand, was toasting to Majulah’s win at the Champagne Room – his 12th for the season – the feat, albeit coincidental, resonated better with his assistant-trainer Jason Ong, a homegrown Singaporean.

“We knew Majulah was running on

National Day, but we didn't plan it that way. It's just that Class 5 race suited him and it happened to fall on that day," said Ong, who recently received his trainer's licence.

"I guess there was a bit of expectation – and luckily, he put everything together."

The owner Alvin Lau, whose silks are not red and white, but yellow and white quarters, is Singaporean, but explained he was not the one who came up with the name.

"I bought the horse from his previous owner. I'm not sure how he got the name," said Mr Lau.

"But it's a nice name, and to win today on National Day is even more special."

A'Isisuhairi is Malaysian, but having resided on this side of the Causeway since he arrived from his apprenticeship in New Zealand in 2012, he could feel the Singapore spirit rallying behind that ride a bit more.

"I was hoping Majulah could win today on National Day. I'm proud he did," said the Kelantan-born rider.

"He began well, but when they slammed on the brakes, I couldn't let him slow down too much. I had to let him stride along.

"Even if he was three wide, I sat off him and he gave a good kick in the end."

Marsh said that Majulah deserved that second win – his first under his care – especially after he had slipped down the handicap for so long. To him, his superior fitness won him the race.

"He had the mileage under his feet. He was really fit for that race," said Marsh.

"It wasn't a strong race, but I didn't expect them to be so strong at the finish."

With that second win after the long barren run, Majulah has boosted his stakes earnings closer to the $80,000 mark for the Majulah Stable.

COLLETT BACK EARLY ON KRANJI WINNER'S LIST

New Zealand jockey Alysha Collett has not taken too long to return to the Kranji winner's circle at her Singapore riding comeback after she booted even-money favourite Bluestone home on Friday.

Collett is back for a second stint after the first one was cut short a few weeks before it was up, due to vertebral injury sustained in a nasty race fall from Drone on October 14.

The 25-year-old went back to New Zealand to convalesce and once she was back on her feet, she put in a application for a new licence, which was successful.

The plucky lass had her first rides last Sunday, without placing in three starts, but she was straight back in business five days later.

From her book of six rides, Bluestone, an impressive all-the-way debut winner as a two-year-old in a Restricted Maiden race (1100m) on July 19, was the standout.

No doubt, the Cliff Brown-trained son of Hallowed Crown faced a sterner test in the $75,000 Novice race over 1200m where he was pitted against the likes of Hotshots Slam, Ocean Crossing and even stablemate Attention who was backing up after his third place last Friday, but Collett rode him a treat for the perfect result at the receiving end.

"I didn't expect to ride a winner that quick. He's a beautiful horse and he hit the line nicely," said Collett, who rode one winner for Brown last year, Sir Isaac.

"The healing process took a while and then I had to get a licence back here. So it was a surprise to get on such a nice horse at only my second day.

"There was a bit of pressure early in the race but I didn't panic. I didn't want to bustle him up.

"I waited for him to get on the right leg and get a good rhythm to the line."

It was for sure a well-judged ride from the winning jockey of close to 380 races, including 11 that were posted at Kranji last year. -STC
