UNICORN SPRINTS TO CUP WIN

Classic Unicorn scorches clear of his rivals for his second win at Sha Tin (HKJC)

Red-hot jockey Zac Purton had to settle for second in the afternoon's feature as Classic Unicorn (NZ) Per Incanto) made it two from two when winning the Class 3 Members Cup Handicap (1000m).

Purton, who was successful in six of the 10 races on the day, had been in the saddle for the three-year-old's debut but handed the reins to Derek Leung when the Chris So-trained gelding was allotted a weight below Purton's minimum. The chestnut sprinted home in 55.09s, a length and a quarter ahead of Purton on Seven Heavens (Frankel).

"He's a nice horse," So said. "He showed good pace again. I think he'll better after next season and in future I think he can go 1200 and 1400 metres but not yet, he's still learning a lot. He doesn't concentrate but when the pressure comes, he kicks.

"A lot of people called me in the last two days because he had lost 40 pounds from his last run but his blood tests were good, he was eating well. You can't take weight as a standard from his first run, he's a baby, so for me, I thought he'd run well.

“Before they sent him to Hong Kong, they told me he won by 12 lengths in a trial,” So said. “We knew the horse was impressive, I haven’t had a horse like this for a long time.”

New Zealand-based bloodstock agent Phill Cataldo was instrumental in identifying the son of Little Avondale Stud stallion Per Incanto for his Hong Kong connections.

“He trialled well when he ran second at Cambridge and when he went to Avondale, he won like an Open class sprinter,” Cataldo said.

“He ran time. He’s a big athlete, a real machine to look at and he just looks like a top-class sprinter.”

Little Avondale Stud-based stallion Per Incanto recorded a winning double on the day with the former Danny Walker-trained three-year-old Star Performance making a successful debut with victory in a Class 3 1400m contest.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Killarney Kid takes Warrnambool feature

The Patrick Payne-trained Killarney Kid (NZ) (Pendragon) took out the feature hurdle event at Warrnambool on Sunday, the A$100,000 Kevin Lafferty Hurdle (3200m).

Ridden by Steve Pateman, Killarney Kid scored comfortably by five lengths as he took his career record to seventeen wins from 54 starts and just shy of $640,000 in stakes earnings.

Pateman settled the favourite at the back of the seven-horse field before looming into contention with two fences to clear. In trying conditions it was the flat ability of the nine-year-old gelding that got him home as he raced clear in the final 200m for a deserved victory.

Killarney Kid started his career from the Richard Collett stable at Pukekohe where he won four times on the flat from 14 starts before being transferred to his Australian base.

MOMENTUM BUILDING FOR CHIPPERFIELD

A decision to place greater emphasis on the training side of the business appears to be paying dividends for former top jumps rider Clayton Chipperfield who produced a winning double on Saturday.

Two-year-old Proisir filly London Bound (NZ) made many sit up and take notice with a stunning seven length win on debut in the opening event at Te Rapa while progressive four-year-old Obsessive (NZ) rounded out the day in fine style on a testing track at Awapuni with a win in the last race of the day.

Chipperfield, who made the long drive from his Te Awamutu base to Awapuni with Obsessive, was delighted with how things played out on the day.

"It was a great day and I thought both horses were very impressive," he said.

"London Bound is a very exciting filly with a big future ahead of her while Obsessive proved how tough he is with a win on what was as deep a track as you will probably get this winter.

"When I was driving down (to Awapuni) in the rain on Friday I was thinking holy hell this is going to be tough for him but I knew he was very fit so I was hoping he would get through it."

Ridden confidently by Hazel Schofer, Obsessive came from well back in the field to forge clear in the closing stages of the 1550m contest, with Chipperfield full of praise for the ride by the young apprentice.

"I though she rode him brilliantly as she didn't panic when Plan A went out the window at the start," Chipperfield said.

"I told her to keep him handy throughout but he got a shuffle up and was back near last.

"She did exactly what she needed to do to get back in the race and I was really impressed with how she kept calm and just did what was needed to get him home.

"She has a big future if that is what she is already producing at this stage of her career."

Chipperfield is no stranger to success himself, having forged a very successful career riding over jumps in the 1990's and early 2000's.

Among his many highlights in the saddle was guiding Golden Flare (NZ) (Touching Wood) to successive victories in the Great Northern Steeplechase (6400m) at Ellerslie in 2002 and 2003.

"I enjoyed my riding career and those wins on Golden Flare were pretty special," he said.

"I sometimes look at the riding ranks now and think it might be good to be riding in those big races but reality sets in pretty quickly as I'm nearly 40 and have a mortgage and kids so that isn't an option anymore."

Chipperfield ended his riding career in 2005 after returning from his second stint in America where the local scene there forced him to make changes to his body that weren't compatible with racing back in New Zealand.

"I rode for two years in the States and had a great time there but it also probably forced my retirement when I came home," he said.

"When I went up there, I was riding at 62-63kgs which was very light as even their maiden jumpers carried around 72kgs.

"A lot of the horses were big and strong and pulled hard so I spent a fair bit of time bulking up in the gym so I could do justice to the mounts I was getting.

"When I came home, I was overweight and had to waste hard which really took its toll so I decided to give riding away."

Chipperfield then began working as the foreman for local Te Awamutu trainer Robert Priscott which progressed to a successful training partnership for the pair for a number of years.

"I really enjoyed my time with Robert, firstly as his foreman and then in a training partnership with him," Chipperfield said.

"We worked really well together but I also knew at some stage I would need to go out on my own which I did about six years ago.

"I started off breaking and pre-training, predominantly for the Oaks Stud, but also with some outside clients that I have built up over time.

"That has gone well and I have combined that with training the odd one for the Oaks and others along the way.

"This year I talked it over with my wife and decided it might be time to give the training side of things more effort so we have been slowly building up a team which is gaining some momentum of late."

Amongst the clients that Chipperfield has done breaking and pre-training work for is Wellington businessman Martin Dagleish, who now races London Bound and another promising two-year-old in Alexander Hamilton (NZ) (Redwood) in Chipperfield's stable under the Pharos Thoroughbreds banner.

"Martin has supported me over the years and it is exciting to have some very nice young horses to train for him," Chipperfield said.

"London Bound has shown enormous promise and I think she could develop into a very nice three-year-old while Alexander Hamilton has the makings of a top-quality stayer.

"With that in mind we have actually sent him to Australia last week as there just aren't any suitable races for him here at the moment.

"He has gone to Rachael Frost, who also trains one for Martin, and will most likely have two runs over there starting at Sandown over 1400m on Wednesday.

"Safely through there he will then go over 1800m later this month before coming back for a spell at the Oaks Stud.

"I think he is a real Derby type as he is already crying out for more ground after two nice runs here over 1200m.

"If he keeps making the progress we think he can then we could be in for a very exciting season coming up."

SYDNEY CAMPAIGN ON THE CARDS FOR CLASS MARE

A potential spring campaign in Sydney awaits class mare Volpe Veloce (Foxwedge) as she eases her way back to racing trim for the new season.

The 2018 Gr.1 Sistema Railway (1200m) winner is currently in pre-training before returning to the stable of Matamata trainer Graham Richardson for her six-year-old season.

Richardson, who is back to training on his own after his partnership with Gavin

Parker ended on amicable terms, is looking forward to having his star pupil back in the fold as he prepares a mainly young team for 2019/20.

“Volpe Veloce is doing well in pretraining at JK Farm at present and I’m expecting she will be back with me in a fortnight or so,” Richardson said.

“We are currently looking at the options we have for her and at present we are leaning to taking her to Sydney for the spring.

“There are so many options available to her over there, particularly in fillies and mares races, that I think that is where she will be best placed.”

While Richardson is excited about the prospects for Volpe Veloce he also has a mix of established gallopers and raw material to work with over the coming months.

“I have a really nice crop of rising two-year-olds that we will work with in the new season so that is something I’m really looking forward to,” he said.

“In particular I have a beautiful Epaulette filly that is coming up well, so she is one to watch out for.

“I’ve also got established gallopers like Tiptronic and La Mia Stella, who are just starting their spring preps, and I expect them to be firing in some of the better races later on.”

Richardson is also excited to welcome well-known rider Rogan Norvall to the stable with an eye on a future training partnership if things work out.

“Rogan started with me a couple of weeks ago and has settled in really well,” he said.

“Rogan is currently learning the ropes on how we operate but the long-term prospect is to form a training partnership in a season or two if it all works out.”

POPULAR VETERAN BACK TO WINNING FORM

Former top hurdler Just Got Home (NZ) (Storming Home) made a welcome and well received return to the winner's circle at Te Aroha on Sunday when he prevailed in a thrilling finish to the Frank & Annie Matijasevich Memorial Open Steeplechase (3500m).

The rising twelve-year-old had won for the first time over the bigger fences at the same venue back in August last year after switching to steeplechasing following a richly successful hurdling career that saw him win on five occasions in that role, including a victory in the 2014 Wellington Hurdle (3400m).

Trainer Rudy Liefting was keen on the chances of his charge before the race and that opinion was validated by Just Got Home who jumped superbly in or near the lead throughout.

Tackled and headed by Magic Wonder (NZ) (Eighth Wonder) with 1000m to run, Just Got Home forged his way back to the front on the point of the home turn before holding out the late challenge of Lacustre (NZ) (Postponed) to register his 12th career victory and take his total earnings over the $300,000 mark.

"I'm going to retire him after this year as he's eleven now and he's been such a good horse for us," Liefting said.

"He hasn't got a Northern (Great Northern Steeplechase) in him or anything like that, but races like this are just nice for him.

"He's got plenty of speed and likes to bowl along a bit at a good clip and enjoys it here (Te Aroha).

"There's a $40,000 chase here at the end of the season so I think we will shoot for that."

Earlier in the day the Mark Brooks-trained El Disparo gave his rivals a jumping lesson as he dominated proceedings from the front to take out the feature hurdle event, the Victor & Frank Matijasevich Open Hurdle (3100m).

The El Hermano seven-year-old looked a different horse to the one that had struggled home near the rear in the Hawke's Bay Hurdles last month as he attacked his jumps throughout for rider Shaun Phelan before striding home a comprehensive four-length winner.

"It was good display as I think he got too far back when they ran along last time," Brooks said.

POPULAR VETERAN BACK TO WINNING FORM

“We forgot that run as he pulled up well, so we had another go today.

“We might look at going down south (Grand National Hurdles, August 7) now.”

Phelan was impressed with the fluency of El Disparo’s jumping as he rolled along in front of the quality field.

“He sort of took his hook on me early so I let him roll and do his own thing,” Phelan said.

“I didn’t realise how far in front I was but he jumped perfectly and did it easy.

“He’s been going around in those good hurdle races and probably needed a confidence boost which he got today.”

The victory was El Disparo’s second over hurdles and his fifth overall for his large group of owners that include his breeders, Frank and Faye Drummond.

The win also provided Phelan with a feature race double as he was aboard Just Got Home after picking up the ride from his partner Emily Farr when she was stood down following a fall in an earlier hurdle event.

BROWN ACES HIS 2YO LESSON WITH INFERNO

For a self-proclaimed “world’s worst trainer of two-year-olds”, trainer Cliff Brown has not done a bad job in saddling Inferno (Holy Roman Emperor) to a resounding win in the $75,000 Magic Millions 2YOs in Training Sale Stakes (1200m) on Sunday.

A few days leading up to the son of Holy Roman Emperor making his Kranji debut in the fourth Leg of the Singapore Golden Horseshoe series for two-year-olds, the self-effacing Australian handler had no qualms in tagging himself with the unenviable title to the media.

Brown was obviously being a little too harsh on himself. The multiple Group One-winning trainer’s record with babies at Kranji might not be as flash as with older horses, but typical of his self-deprecating humour, he was just injecting a bit of hyperbole.

Purchased by Brown for $140,000 from the Westbury Stud draft at the 2018 Book 1 Sale at Karaka, Inferno came like a thunderbolt inside the last 300m to blow his 11 rivals away on Sunday.

With Michael Rodd astride, Inferno, who races in the same pink colours as Victorian outfit Barree Stable-owned Debt

Collector (NZ) (Thorn Park), looked unstoppable when he came storming onto the scene with a blistering run at the 300m. Though still green and laying in under pressure, he easily gobbled up his peers before pulling away to a most dominant debut win.

“He’s a lovely ready-made horse. Credit to (racing manager) Chris Bock for choosing this horse,” said Brown.

“Chris actually rang me before he bought him. He told me I had to buy that one, and it’s good of Glenn (Whittenbury of Barree Stable) to have bought him. From Day 1, we knew he was very good.

“We’re looking at the final Leg of the Aushorse Golden Horseshoe over 1200m on July 19, but he has to go home and not get shinsore.”

Rodd said that Inferno was not a stereotypical two-year-old, and even if the win was recorded in devastating style, he still had to earn his stripes in stiffer tests down the road.

“Not many two-year-olds are like him. He’s big and rangy,” said the Australian hoop.

“He was three wide and I was happy to hold him up there as there was some scrimmage in front of me, but once he got an uninterrupted run, he showed an amazing turn of foot.
