CHIPPERFIELD CHASING FEATURE DOUBLE

Two-year-old filly London Bound will start as one of the favourites in Saturday's Listed Courtesy Ford Ryder Stakes at Otaki

An excited Clayton Chipperfield is preparing for the biggest day of his training career with favourites in both New Zealand features on Saturday.

Chipperfield will produce London Bound (NZ) (Proisir) as a $2.50 favourite in the Listed Courtesy Ford Ryder Stakes (1200m) at Otaki, while Obsessive (NZ) (Darci Brahma) is a $3 favourite in the RSA Taumarunui Gold Cup (2200m) at Rotorua.

"They are putting the pressure on me making both of them favourites," Chipperfield quipped.

"I've only had Our Sequoia in a Waikato Guineas (Gr.2, 2000m) run in a stakes race for me and that didn't end well (finishing 11th) so we're hoping for a lot better results this time around. It's a nice position to be in, having two good chances in the day's main races at two different venues."

While he won three stakes races in partnership with Robert Priscott, a period that produced 41 of Chipperfield's 54 wins as a trainer, it's clear a black-type win would be a special moment in the 39-year-old's solo career.

Bred and raced by one of the stable's main supporters, Martin Dalglish, London Bound proved she had the credentials to make the step up in grade with a seven-length debut win over previous-start Listed Castletown Stakes (1200m) winner Flaunting (NZ) (Showcasing) at Te Rapa.

"It was a huge win. We've always held a high opinion of her - I've thought she's on par with (promising stablemate) Catalyst - but to win like she did, I wasn't really expecting that," Chipperfield said.

"To beat a stakes winner in that manner on debut was a pretty big statement from our filly and though the second horse didn't get all favours the way the race was run, our horse was pretty impressive.

"I said to Martin she was worthy of a crack at black-type after that. Her mum died last year so if we can get black-type on Saturday, she's got it forever and we're hoping she's good enough to do that.

"I'd be rapt if she could run in the first three so she can get that black-type but I wouldn't be surprised if she won. She pulled up 100 percent from her Te Rapa win and I galloped her Tuesday morning on a sticky course proper and she loved it.

"That was my concern going down to Otaki on a drying track but on the way she worked on Tuesday, I don't think there'll be any problem."

Chipperfield described London Bound as a "big, strong Proisir filly" capable of becoming a Classic performer at three.

"She will have a quick break after Saturday, probably two or three weeks in the paddock, and then we'll look towards the 1000 Guineas (Gr.1, 1600m). She's got the class and I don't think the extra distance will worry her at all," said Chipperfield, adding that London Bound's two-year-old half-brother by Showcasing was shaping well and would trial early next season as education for a Karaka Million preparation.

Chipperfield was delighted with Obsessive ahead of the Taumarunui Cup as the Darci Brahma four-year-old looks to extend his winning sequence to three in his biggest test so far.

"He's never finished further back than fifth and he's won his last two. While he's only had 10 starts, he's been around a while, in and out of the stable," Chipperfield said.

"He's got bad legs and had a lot of growing issues so we kept giving him time out. While he didn't race for 12 months, he was never injured and he did have a couple of preparations.

"He's pulled up super from his win at New Plymouth last weekend. He jumped out perfectly and it was just a crawl and sprint. The only concern is the step up to 2200m for the first time but he's tough and the way he won at New Plymouth I don't think it should be any problem. He's certainly not a horse to lie down."

ALLPRESS SEALS PREMIERSHIP AND TRIP TO JAPAN

Lisa Allpress has achieved a major career goal with an invitation to ride in the World All-Stars Jockeys series in Japan.

Allpress announced the invitation on social media this week, posting:

“Smiling because I’m off to Japan! So happy to be invited to the world jockey series in Sapporo 24th and 25th August.”

The now three-time national premiership-winning jockey said she had always envied the likes of David Walsh and Lance O’Sullivan getting to ride in the Japanese event and desperately wanted to participate herself.

“It’s something I set my sights on from when Karl and I moved to Wanganui about seven years ago. I wanted to win a premiership so I could get that trip to Japan,” Allpress said.

While she was gutted to miss out on an invitation to the series after her first two premiership wins, Allpress gets to fulfil her dream next month.

“When I started riding, I remember David Walsh, Lance O’Sullivan and Jim Collett getting to go to Japan for that series, then Leith Innes and Opie Bosson later on, and I thought it would be so cool to win a premiership so I could compete on the world stage as an international rider,” she said.

“It’s taken a while and there’s been a couple of disappointments but I’m rapt that I’ll actually get my chance now. This will be the fourth time I’ve ridden in Japan but the first time I’ve ridden at Sapporo.”

Allpress, who has completed riding contracts in Singapore and Japan, rode in the Shergar Cup jockey’s series at Ascot in 2013 and follows on from last season's premiership winner Sam Collett, who finished 13th in the 2018 World All-Stars Jockeys won by Christophe Lemaire.

Allpress will round off her premiership-winning season at Otaki on Saturday where she combines with the Stephen Marsh-trained Sai Fah (NZ) (Rios) in the Listed Courtesy Ford Ryder Stakes (1200m).

The Rios colt is a $5.50 second favourite with TAB bookmakers behind London Bound (NZ) (Proisir) at $2.50 after a strong win at Te Rapa last Saturday.

"He's shown a lot of form all the way through. To win the first two-year-old race of the season and go on to win in July takes some doing and that's a credit to Stephen Marsh and his team. He's a very good ride to have," Allpress said.

"It's a strong field, with the likes of London Bound and Jager Bombed, but I'm quite happy to be riding my horse. I'm happy with the draw (barrier nine) too. A lot will depend on how the track is running but by then we'll know the best part of the track and from there we won't be stuck down on the inside anyway."

Allpress, who needs just three victories to bring up 1500 wins in New Zealand, held off her good mate Johnathan Parkes to win the premiership in a season where she has won 130 races, including the Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks (2400m) at Trentham aboard the Lisa Latta-trained Sentimental Miss (NZ) (Reliable Man).

She was especially delighted to secure the premiership after a horrific jumpout fall in 2017 left her with shoulder injuries that threatened her career.

"It's very satisfying, especially to come back from an injury that at some stages of my recovery I'd had thoughts that I might not even ride again.

From not being able to dress myself to winning a premiership the next season, I really feel like I've achieved something."

Vibrato (NZ) (Sacred Falls)

Vibrato at concert pitch for Ryder Stakes

Murray Baker is pleased with last start winner Vibrato (NZ) (Sacred Falls) heading into Saturday's Listed Courtesy Ford Ryder Stakes (1200m) at the Levin Racing Club's race meeting at Otaki.

The two-year-old son of Sacred Falls followed two trial wins and a luckless debut with a classy win over 1230m at Rotorua on June 26, leading from start to finish.

"He hasn't raced for a month but we're happy with him and we think he's probably improved a bit," said Baker, who trains in partnership with Andrew Forsman. Full story here

Verry Elleegant (NZ) (Zed)

Dream season for Bishara

This season will live long in the memory of Ardmore trainer Nicholas Bishara.

Not only did he double his previous best tally of wins in a season, but he also experienced Group One glory as an owner through star three-year-old filly Verry Elleegant (NZ) (Zed).

"I'm extremely happy," Bishara said. "I don't have a big team, I have only got about seven or eight at the moment, so to get 10 wins from that pool of horses is great.

"It has pretty much been a dream season. The team has fired on the home front and as an owner I get to keep a tail hair in Verry Elleegant. It has been terrific." Full story here

Trisha Lea (NZ) (Zed)

Little hopes for perfect start from new base

Just days after relocating to Cambridge from her former Opaki base, Kylie Little will aim to kick off her northern training career on a high at Rotorua on Saturday.

Little will saddle last-start Parliamentary Handicap (2200m) winner Trisha Lea (NZ) (Zed) in the RSA Taumarunui Gold Cup (2200m), while impressive debut winner Easy Habit (NZ) (Super Easy) will line up in a supporting race.

"Trisha Lea's been doing really well since Trentham, she just about pulled my arms out galloping around Cambridge this morning," Little said. "She'll run in the Taumarunui Gold Cup on Saturday with Sam Collett aboard." Full story here

Preditor (NZ) (Savabeel)

Kellady keen to win Alien vs Predator war in Jumbo Jet

Last year's Jumbo Jet Trophy winner Preditor (NZ) (Savabeel) will make a bold attempt to go back-to-back first-up from a break this Sunday.

He will, however, be partnered in the $5175,000 race over 1400m by a jockey who does not boast the most flattering record on him – four rides for four unplaced finishes – Matthew Kellady.

With the five-time winner (1400m to 1800m) weighted at 54.5kgs, his winningest partner (three wins), heavyweight jockey John Powell had to sit out the ride. Full story here

Romancer (NZ) (Redwood)

Soft conditions would suit Romancer: Begg

The weather forecasts played a big part in Grahame Begg's decision to keep Romancer (NZ) (Redwood) closer to home to run at Caulfield rather than travel him interstate.

With rain forecast for Melbourne over the coming days Begg has opted to run Romancer in Saturday's Catanach's Jewellers Handicap (1400m) over the Listed Winter Challenge in Sydney.

"The weather prediction was for the rain here and that's what he relishes, getting soft ground," Begg said.

Romancer has had three starts since being transferred to Begg earlier this year and is trained out of the Pinecliff property on the Mornington peninsula.

The five-year-old gelding won second-up for Begg in a heat of the Winter Championship Series Final over 1400m on a soft track at Flemington last month before finishing second in the Listed Winter Championship Series Final (1600m) at the same venue last start on a track which got back to a good rating.

NEWS IN BRIEF

"He is going well," Begg said.

"We've obviously changed his environment. He's being trained out of Pinecliff and we don't work him hard.

"He does relish soft tracks, which is one thing, and I really believe a mile (1600m) is right at the top of his distance range.

Given his belief Romancer is best-suited around 1400m, Begg is not concerned at all about dropping him back to that distance on Saturday.

"He's had three weeks break between runs," he said.

"We don't have to do a lot of work with him. We just keep him ticking over."

Unblinker Torgersen ready to find form

A change in race day gear and a sharp drop in class are expected to help Torgersen (NZ) (Pins) return to top form at Eagle Farm.

The Chris Waller-trained Torgersen will back up from last week's Listed Tattersall's Mile (1600m) in the TAB Handicap (1800m).

Torgersen has earned top weight of 59kg but he hasn't won since taking the Filante Handicap (1400m) at Randwick in October.

He raced well in the Victorian spring with a second in the Listed Kilmore Cup (1600m) his best effort.

However, he struggled in Victoria in the winter and was sent to Waller's Gold Coast stable to see if he could regain the form that saw him win two Queensland races last year.

"He is down in class and Chris has elected to take blinkers off him," Waller's Queensland manager Paul Shailer said.

Victory Eight set to continue winning run

Few people in Queensland racing circles are surprised New Zealand-bred gelding Victory Eight (NZ) Nadeem has been the quiet achiever of the winter carnival.

After all, his trainer Trevor Miller has been a key player in the state's racing industry with no fuss for decades.

Victory Eight, who has won his past two starts in impressive fashion, steps up to open company in the TAB Handicap (1800m) at Eagle Farm on Saturday.

Victory Eight, who was sold as a yearling through Te Runga's 2015 New Zealand Bloodstock draft, did his early racing in

Victory Eight (NZ) (Nadeem)

Victoria for the Ciaran Maher-David Eustace training partnership and won at Bairnsdale before heading north to Miller.

The gelding has since won seven races including his past two starts in metropolitan benchmark races at the Sunshine Coast and Doomben.

"He won on a very heavy track at the Sunshine Coast and a few people wanted to label him just a wet track horse," Miller said.

"But he showed in his Doomben win on a good track he is a bit more than that."

Jim Byrne will ride Victory Eight who has drawn barrier five in a field of nine.

True Excelsior (NZ) (Exceed And Excel)

True Excelsior to resume at Caulfield

True Excelsior (NZ) (Exceed and Excel) is scheduled to make her return on Bletchingly Stakes day at Caulfield but co-trainer Troy Corstens plans to kick off the stakes-placed mare's campaign in a race against her own sex rather than in the feature event.

Rising five-year-old True Excelsior is nominated for Saturday's Gr.3 Bletchingly Stakes (1200m) but Corstens said the mare will resume in the 1100m handicap for fillies and mares on the same program with a view to stepping back up to stakes level at her next start on the straight course at Flemington.

True Excelsior campaigned in New Zealand during the summer, finishing 10th in the Gr.1 Telegraph (1200m) at Trentham in January before running fifth in the Gr.1 BCD Sprint (1400m), won by Melody Belle, at Te Rapa on February 9 at her most recent start.

"I'll run her in the 1100 on Saturday and then it's two weeks into the Aurie's Star (Gr.3, 1200m)," Corstens said.

"She'll run really well and that will top her right off for the Aurie's Star at Flemington. She goes very well down the straight."

True Excelsior was third in the Gr.3 Standish Handicap (1200m) over the straight 1200m at Flemington on January 1 this year before she travelled to New Zealand.

Corstens said True Excelsior was a valuable broodmare and she could head off to the breeding barn this spring but her next couple of runs would be telling as to whether she pressed on for another season of racing.

Locally Sauced (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Locally Sauced to follow successful recipe

Waiuku trainers Grant and Tana Shaw have experienced a fair bit of success campaigning Locally Sauced (NZ) (Iffraaj) in Canterbury and they hope to replicate that form when he contests the Race Images (CHCH) 2200 at Phar Lap Raceway on Friday.

The seven-year-old son of Iffraaj won the corresponding race last year and his trainers believe he can go back-to-back

Sansom (NZ) (Charm Spirit)

Hat-trick for Sansom

New Zealand-bred galloper Sansom (NZ) (Charm Spirit) made it three wins in a row at Sandown on Wednesday when victorious over 1300m.

The son of Charm Spirit jumped away well from gate six to take the early lead for jockey Ben Allen where he was able to dictate terms throughout and go on to win by nearly two lengths.

"It wasn't how I really mapped out the race, I would have liked to have had something to follow, but he was the first one out of the gate, so I thought I may as well take up the lead while he could," Allen said.

"He relaxed beautifully and each time he is stepping out he is improving. It's quite noticeable in his racing."

Trainer Phillip Stokes was pleased with the victory and said Sansom is starting to develop into a nice racehorse.

"We have had to do a lot of work with him. He had been doing things upside down," he said.

"We have been trying to really restrain him, but you just have to let him go out and get his rhythm and he seems happy.

"The track conditions didn't worry him and he put paid to them well.

"I'm in two minds now. I was going to tip him out, I still might, and just see if he can go to something a little bit better down the track."

Gumpert (NZ) (Roc de Cambes)

Gumpert scores at Matamata

Two-year-old filly Gumpert (NZ) (Roc de Cambes) was able to clear maiden company at the second time of asking at Matamata on Wednesday, winning The Meat Co, Robow's, Two Tones 1200 by 3-1/2 lengths.

She finished eighth on debut at Counties last month and trainer Trevor Da Cruz said a slight gear change has helped his filly.

"I was quite happy with how she raced today," he said.

"Unfortunately in her first start I encountered a little issue. After watching the replay of her first race I noticed that she hung in a bit. After that I went back to the drawing board and we made a slight gear change and did a little bit of work on her body.

"We got the result today. This is what she was supposed to do in her first race, so I am glad she ran to form today."

Da Cruz was pleased with the win and is looking forward to the future with the daughter of Roc De Cambes.

"She is bred to stay a bit, so it's quite handy that she has got speed," he said.

"I will discuss it with her owner, Mr Kwok, and we will make a plan. I think at the moment we will run her through her grades and slowly step her up in trip and see how she handles it."

Trudeau takes out Oamaru Cup

Weight relief may have been the deciding factor in a short-margin result in the Oamaru Cup (1600m) at Ashburton on Tuesday.

The race was taken out by the Tony and Lyn Prendergast-trained Trudeau (NZ) (Pins), who nosed out King Cougar (NZ) (Alamosa) into second, with Owen Patrick

Trudeau (NZ) (Pins)

(NZ) (Ocean Park) a head back in third.

The five-year-old son of Pins was initially set to carry 56.5kg, however, with a number of jockeys unable to make the weight, the Prendergast's elected to utilise apprentice jockey Tina Comignaghi's one kilogram claim. Full story here

Latta brings up $20 million in stakes

Rock Island Line's (NZ) (Rock 'n' Pop) win in the Revital Fertilisers 1400 at New Plymouth on Saturday will live long in the memory of Lisa Latta.

The Rock 'n' Pop gelding's victory was the 950th for the Awapuni conditioner and pushed her career earnings over the $20 million mark.

Latta was pleased with the run and is hoping the rising five-year-old will make the final field for the Gr.3 Winning Edge Presentations Winter Cup (1600m) at Riccarton next Saturday. Full story here

Sam Weatherley

Homesick Weatherley resuming New Zealand career

Sam Weatherley will head home from Sydney next Sunday, not for a holiday, but to reignite his New Zealand riding career at Riccarton the following Saturday.

New Zealand's Champion Apprentice for the past two seasons, Weatherley has spent the last 15 months indentured to champion Sydney trainer Chris Waller, during which time he has kicked home 45 winners for prizemoney of A$3.25 million.

Able to claim 1.5kg in Sydney, he is currently second on the New South Wales Metropolitan Apprentice Jockey Premiership behind clear leader Robbie Dolan and kicked home a treble at Rosehill late last month. But he has decided to follow his heart and return to New Zealand to continue his career after completing his week's Sydney riding engagements next Saturday. Full story here

Mighty Boss (Not A Single Doubt)

Colic claims Mighty Boss

Group One winner Mighty Boss (Not A Single Doubt) has died after a bout of colic.

The Mick Price-trained entire won two of his 17 career starts, including the Gr.1 Caulfield Guineas (1600m).

"Terribly sad for Mr Yaseen and everyone at the stable to lose Mighty Boss to colic," Price said on Twitter.

"(He was) a magnificent colt with a most unique personality - he will be sorely missed."

The son of Not A Single Doubt was purchased by his trainer out of Curraghmore's 2016 New Zealand Bloodstock Premier Yearling Sale draft for $180,000.

HELENA BABY FROM WELL-KNOWN WINDSOR FAMILY

The John Bell-trained Helena Baby (NZ) (Guillotine) has been the star find of winter racing in New Zealand, with Saturday's Listed Opunake Cup (1400m) triumph his most significant to date.

The four-year-old gelded son of Guillotine romped home to an easy five and a half-length victory at Taranaki dishing out a galloping lesson to his more seasoned rivals in his first start in open company.

Helena Baby has fashioned an impressive record in his short career, having only commenced racing in March of this year.

The Hong Kong-owned galloper, whose future may yet lay in that jurisdiction, has won five of his seven starts and been runner-up on the other two occasions.

Bred by the Schick family's Windsor Park Stud in Cambridge, studmaster Rodney Schick said he saw a number of similarities in Helena Baby and his Group Two winning sire Guillotine.

"He's pretty exciting, he always was a nice type, and John (Bell) has done a fantastic job with him to win his last five starts," Schick said.

“He shows a good turn of foot just like his father did and I am pretty sure he will step up to the next level.

“I know John wants to run him in the Foxbridge Plate (Gr.2, 1200m), and then possibly the Tarzino Trophy (Gr.1, 1400m), and hopefully he can get some more black-type before he goes up to Hong Kong.

“John has always thought a lot of him and has been very patient with him and it’s great to see him getting results.”

Bell bought Helena Baby out of the paddock, for Hong Kong owners C Y Lee and Tang Hoi Lun. He was the third foal from a young mare and hadn’t been through the sales ring.

The rising five-year-old is out of the Secret Savings mare Hot Stash, a winner of four races in Sydney.

Her first foal, Hover (NZ) by Starcraft, was a winner of three races, and her second foal by Mastercraftsman has also won three races.

Hot Stash has a three-year-old gelding by Falkirk which is owned by Windsor Park and is in work with Fraser Auret. He has trialled twice for two wins.

Her next foal, a two-year-old by Shamexpress, is owned by Te Akau and has had one trial for a placing, and she has a Vanburgh colt who will go to the Karaka sales in January.

She is in-foal again to Shamexpress, but Schick has yet to decide who she will visit this spring especially now that she is a black-type producer.

The granddam of Helena Baby is the Zabeel mare Abeel Hostess (NZ), herself a winner of five races who placed twice at stakes level. She is a three-quarter sister to Zabarra (NZ) (Zabeel), a winner of eight races, three of them at group three.

It’s a family that Windsor Park Stud have had a lot to do with over the years, and Schick had no hesitation buying back into it.

“I bought a mare at the Easter sales in-foal to Starcraft and unfortunately she died,” Schick said.

“But I had a return service to the stallion so I had to quickly find a mare that I could send.

“We had a fair bit to do with the family in the past, it was one of Jack Denham’s great families. Abeel Hostess was born at the farm and both her dam Fickle Mistress and her mother Vaindarra have been resident on the farm at some stage.

“The thing about most of those good families is that they usually come again, and in this case, it is through Helena Baby.” - NZTBA
