CLARK LANDS FIRST KRANJI WIN ON WHAT'S NEW IN SILVER BOWL

What's New and Raquel Clark cause a boilover at Kranji

Adelaide champion apprentice jockey Raquel Clark bagged her first win in Singapore aboard roughie What's New (NZ) (Casino Prince) and in a feature race for good measure, the newly created S$175,000 Silver Bowl (1400m) on Sunday.

Since her Kranji debut on May 31, last season's South Australian metropolitan champion apprentice jockey had gone through 14 winless rides, mostly lesser chances, finishing out of the placings at her first 13 before getting the leg-up on What's New.

No doubt her booking in Sunday's highlight, $398 shot What's New, would not have inspired much confidence among most pundits that she would break her duck this time round, but when Clark herself walked into the parade ring, there was a bit of spring in her step.

The coveted barrier No 1 was the main reason behind the silent hope, even if any serious form analyst worth his salt would have probably told you the Cliff Brown-trained daughter of Casino Prince was no slouch either.

And as luck would have it the race panned out perfectly as What's New and Clark enjoyed a charmed run from the outset after slotting nicely into the perfect box-seat behind Circuit Mission (High Chaparral) who himself was snapping at the heels of leader Eye Guy (Bradbury's Luck).

Showing a great poise that belied her age, the winner of over 300 races between Adelaide and Tasmania didn't panic when searching for a home straight gap knowing she had a lapful under her. When she found that gap What's New knuckled down to the task to go and score by one length from Sacred Croix (NZ) Savabeel) with Eye Guy holding on well for third.

"It's a great way to win my first race in Singapore," said an elated Clark at the winning presentation.

"This is probably my biggest thrill in racing. To be here winning a race means so much, and to do it in a Group race goes beyond my wildest dreams.

"Cliff did tell me she was a very tough mare, very genuine. When we drew one, I was quietly confident.

"We got on the back of another horse (Circuit Mission) with a beautiful run. She's done no work throughout.

"At the top of the straight, I had plenty of horse. When she saw daylight, she started to quicken really well and at the 200m I knew I had the race won.

"She was very gutsy to the line."

While the attention had all along been more focused on Brown's Mister Yeoh (Wanted) and Argentinian Group

1 winner Elite Quarteto (Rock OF Gibraltar), the Australian handler let on he had never underestimated What's New as the third stringer.

"I was actually quite sure she would run enormous," he said.

"She's such a genuine mare, she tries hard. At her last runs, she came up with the best closing sectionals.

"Today, she was travelling the whole way, and when the run presented itself, she took it up nicely."

"She'll go for the second Leg for sure and I hope she can get into the Derby as well. Mister Yeoh can be forgiven, he had to be used up and he over-raced."

The second Leg of the Singapore Four-Year-Old Challenge is the Stewards' Cup (1600m) on June 30 while the grand final, the Singapore Derby (1800m) will be run on July 21.

What's New is the first foal of Oasis Dream mare Pussycat Dream and comes from an extended family that includes Gr.1 Ellerslie Sires Produce Stakes (1200m) winner Good Faith (NZ) (Straight Strike) and Gr.1 Australian Oaks (2400m) winner Daffodil (NZ) (No Excuse Needed).

SYDNEY WIN A THRILL FOR HAWTIN

Cambridge-based trainer Brendon Hawtin achieved one of his career goals when lightly raced four-year-old Simply Optimistic (Encosta De Lago) scored a decisive victory over 1200m at Royal Randwick on Saturday.

After spending a good part of his youth in Sydney where his father Keith played an integral role in fellow New Zealander Graeme Rogerson's multi-state training operation, the younger Hawtin had always cherished the thought of returning one day with a horse good enough to compete in the competitive Sydney market.

That goal was fulfilled on Saturday when Simply Optimistic produced a sustained finish in the closing stages for rider Josh Parr to win at his first start since September last year.

Hawtin was on top of the world as he ticked off a career ambition.

"That was an amazing feeling and I'm just so chuffed to get the win and stick it up the Aussies like that," he said.

"It's not often our sprinting types can come over here and win against them so that made it even better for us.

"I've been waiting a long time for a horse good enough to be able to bring over and this guy has proved to be the one.

"I spent 3-4 years with Rogie over here working in his two-year-old barn and since I've been back in New Zealand, I have always wanted to come back and win races here."

Hawtin firmly believed the Encosta De Lago four-year-old had the ability to compete at a high level but immaturity issues and a minor injury had combined to restrict the number of starts they could give the horse since he made his debut at Te Rapa back in August 2017.

"He always showed us plenty on the track but he needed to strengthen up and mature before we would see the best of him," Hawtin said

"He won two of his last three starts as a three-year-old then won first up at Ruakaka in September last year.

"We had him ready to go for the last day of the Hawkes Bay Spring Carnival but he tweaked a suspensory so we had to pull him out and give him a break again.

"He started back on the water walker in January and has had a long, slow build-up since then.

"We actually had him entered for a race at Ellerslie but he missed a trial at Waipa when they were called off so we decided to have a look at Sydney instead, and here we are.

"When the track came up a Heavy8 on Saturday I thought he would be a big chance but might be feeling the pinch a bit at the end.

"I said to Josh to cuddle him up as long as he could but circumstances played out where he had to make his run a lot earlier than expected.

Cambridge trainer Brendon Hawtin

"It turned out to be a very brave effort by the horse as he was coming to the end of it 100m out, but he never stopped trying."

Hawtin will now look for another Sydney target before sending the horse south to the stable of his good mate Trent Busuttin for the foreseeable future.

"I'd like to think he can win again here but the 1200m will probably be too sharp for him so we'll take a look at what is available over 1400m next," Hawtin said.

"He can have that run and maybe one more but after that he will head to Trent and Natalie (Young) down at Cranbourne for a break.

"He's going to stay over here in Australia now and we hope he might be competitive in and around Melbourne in the spring.

"I do think in twelve months he will be at his best and could be a real Carnival contender so that is the plan for him as it stands."

KIWI-BRED KOLDING SHINES IN QUEENSLAND GUINEAS

Kolding scores in the Gr.2 Queensland Guineas at Eagle Farm (Grant Peters)

Ocean Park gelding Kolding (NZ) has emerged as the latest New Zealand-bred star for Queensland owner Neville Morgan, extending his winning sequence to four with a brilliant win in Saturday's Gr.2 Queensland Guineas (1600m) at Eagle Farm.

Carrying the same colours as multiple Group One-winning New Zealand-breds Kermadec (NZ) (Teofilo) and Rangirangdoo (NZ) (Pentire), Kolding produced an irresistible surge from fourth-last to beat Baccarat Baby (Casino Prince) by half a length. Adding to the New Zealand flavour of the result, he was trained and ridden by expats Chris Waller and James McDonald respectively.

"I think he's the right horse to go through to the spring – an Epsom (Gr.1, 1600m) type of horse, in my opinion," Waller said.

"He's owned in the same interests as Rangirangdoo who won that race, and this race looks a good launching pad."

Kolding has now won five of his 11 starts, including all of his last four since being gelded earlier this year.

"It's been the making of this horse," Waller said. "Prior to being gelded he had the ability but didn't want to be a racehorse."

Kolding was bred by Warren Pegg in partnership with Wentwood Grange, who sold him at the 2017 Premier Sale at Karaka for $170,000. Wentwood Grange's Hawkins family also bred and sold Kermadec four years earlier.

"It's a fantastic result, and that combination of Guy Mulcaster buying our yearlings and Neville Morgan racing them seems to be working extremely well," stud manager Dean Hawkins said.

"We were so pleased that they decided to come back to the well again after Kermadec, and we're thrilled that they've got this result with this horse.

"It was an amazing performance in the Guineas. They've always had a big wrap on the horse over there, but he's really come on in leaps and bounds since he was gelded. To win four in a row, culminating in a Group Two, is great."

The Wentwood team are delighted to share the accolades with Pegg, who has been involved with the farm since the beginning.

"Warren was actually our very first client when Wentwood Grange first got started," Hawkins said.

"A few years ago he decided to stop breeding horses on his own, so we started to breed in partnership with him.

"He's been a wonderful client for such a long time and has become a close family friend. It's fantastic to share this result with him."

Kolding is out of Pegg's Danzero mare Magic Star, who had previously produced two other stakes winners – the Listed Counties 2YO Challenge Stakes (1100m) winner Miss Upstart (Snippetson), and the well-performed stayer Sampson (NZ) (Dubai Destination), the winner of 11 races including the Gr.2 Awapuni Gold Cup (2000m), Gr.3 Trentham Stakes (2100m) and Listed New Zealand St Leger (2600m).

A filly by Iffraaj was sold by Wentwood Grange for $150,000 during last year's Book 1 sale.

Meanwhile, the win was the biggest so far for Waikato Stud's up-and-coming stallion Ocean Park, who had previously been represented by a further 12 stakes performers including Rondinella (NZ), Another Dollar (NZ), Mongolianconqueror (NZ) and Arrogant (NZ) who were all placed at Group One level.

Now with three crops of racing age, Ocean Park has sired 94 winners from 167 runners. He has sired 27 winners in the last two months alone, and he had a double on Saturday as the promising Star Of The Seas (NZ) scored at Randwick – the sixth win of his 12-start career.

PITMAN GETS CANCER ALL-CLEAR EN-ROUTE TO FIRST ROYAL ASCOT RUNNER

Having a runner at Royal Ascot is special for any trainer, but for Michael Pitman it has taken on a new significance after he was given the all-clear from cancer while travelling to Britain for the meeting.

The New Zealand-based trainer received the news by email at Los Angeles airport as he flew over to prepare his first British runner, Enzo's Lad (Testa Rossa), to race in the Gr.1 King's Stand Stakes (1006m) and the Gr.1 Diamond Jubilee Stakes (1200m).

Pitman was diagnosed with bowel cancer last August and went through 26 days of chemotherapy and radiation before enduring a major operation on October 8, which lasted more than seven hours.

The 64-year-old, who underwent further surgery last month, said: "It was amazing to step off the plane in LA with my wife Diane and be told everything is fine. I opened the email and it was like winning the lottery – I'm the same as everybody else, I want to live and now I've got my life ahead of me.

"I've had an unbelievably good run. I've been lucky enough to train horses for 35 years and have been on a high the whole time. There's been bumps along the way but when I reflect on my journey it's been outstanding and I've been given a new lease of life.

"I was always going to find a way to get to Royal Ascot. I stay awake and watch Royal Ascot every year and love its history. It's the best week of racing in the world and to be part of it is simply a dream come true for me – it's the absolute pinnacle."

A runner at the royal meeting is a culmination of years of work and the trainer is no stranger to overcoming adversity.

When a teenager, Pitman worked as a sales manager for golf brand PGF before "having a crack" at horse racing and taking out his licence 37 years ago.

A month later, he was hit by a car and spent six months in hospital. He left with an artificial leg and for a time was wheelchair-bound.

He said: "When I came out of hospital I had 17 dollars. The surgeon told me to enjoy my life as I would be back in a wheelchair by 50. I think people thought I couldn't train. My wife and I have done it the hard way and are able to appreciate what we've achieved."

Enzo's Lad won at the top level for the second time in New Zealand in January but did not enjoy the experience when last in the Gr.1 The Chairman's Sprint Prize (1200m) at Sha Tin at his last run.

A general 50-1 chance for the King's Stand, Enzo's Lad is being prepared for Ascot at Jane Chapple-Hyam's yard in Newmarket – or "horse heaven" as Pitman describes it.

"I've watched a lot of Royal Ascot and the trainers sometimes complain that the track is too hard, but I'm the opposite and hope it's like concrete," said Pitman.

"Enzo's Lad has won a bit of money by New Zealand standards and at this stage will be running both days. I was going to put a pencil through Royal Ascot after Sha Tin, when he struggled with the ground and going right-handed round a bend, but he's done really well and you may only get one crack at having a Royal Ascot runner in your lifetime."

Pitman, who tragically lost his 28-year-old son Jonny in 2013, trains in partnership with his son Matthew, who could take over the operation in the next two or three seasons.

He said: "We are the third most successful yard in New Zealand with more than 1,800 winners and I'm immensely proud we've got to this level. I will retire the day after I reach 2,000, which could take three or four seasons depending on how we perform.

"It would be extra special to get a Royal Ascot winner for my son Matty, who can't come over to England as he has a seven-month old baby and has to look after the yard. He's the future."

WAIMATE RACING CLUB FAREWELL HOME VENUE

A brilliantly fine day and a huge on-course crowd combined to provide the appropriate farewell to thoroughbred racing at Waimate on Sunday where the Waimate Racing Club ran their last meeting at their home venue.

The club has not been issued a licence to hold its annual race meeting during the next season, following the release of the Messara report and New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing's subsequent venue plan.

Rather than using the meeting to politicise the issue, the club took the opportunity to celebrate the rich history of thoroughbred racing in the area, with Club President Mike Cooney determined to make the most of the meeting for everyone involved.

"While we are still not too sure as to why we need to stop racing here and what difference it will make to the industry, we decided to focus on celebrating what we have achieved in nearly 150 years of racing here," Cooney said.

"We invited as many of our former members and committee members as possible to the day although there are a few who couldn't attend due to old age.

"I'm sure those who made it thoroughly enjoyed their day with plenty of tall tales being told along the way.

"While the fields had fallen away due to a number of factors, the day dawned fine and the crowd was rolling in well before the first race."

Included amongst the many in attendance was former Waimate-based trainer Dick Langford who reminded Cooney about some of the many stories associated with the track over the years.

"Dick trained here for many years and had plenty of stories about history of the place," Cooney said.

"He also was pretty quick to remind me about his jockey days where he rode in a hurdle event on the course over seventy years ago."

Progressive galloper Pippi Rea (NZ) (Pins) provided one of the day's racing highlights when he made it four wins in a row when taking out the rating 90 1200m event.

The five-year-old Pins gelding, who races in the colours of his breeder and co-owner Valachi Downs Stud founder Kevin Hickman, sat outside the pace for rider Tina Comignaghi before driving clear in the straight to score by a neat length from Riccarton visitors On Point and Saber.

Trained at Balcairn by John and Karen Parsons, the stakes placed Pippi Rea has now won eight of his 33 career starts.

Comignaghi made it a winning double when she guided Wild Jack (NZ) (Castledale) to victory in the feature race on the day, the Dunstan Horsefeeds Waimate Cup (1840m) after facing only three rivals due to the scratchings of the Kevin Myers-trained runners Scapolo, Shadow King and Overtheriver, who experienced transport issues trying to get to the meeting.

BAD BOY BROWN BOOKS WELLINGTON HURDLES APPOINTMENT

Talented jumper Bad Boy Brown (NZ) (St Reims) booked a place in next month's Wellington Hurdle (3400m) at Trentham when he outstayed his open-class rivals in Saturday's feature hurdle contest at the venue.

The seven-year-old gelding bided his time at the rear of the field for rider Isaac Lupton before looming into contention approaching the home corner. In a slogging finish on the Heavy11 surface, Lupton brought his mount with a powerful staying run to snatch victory from race favourite Gallante (Montjeu) with Guy Fox (NZ) (Zed) battling on well to claim third.

Trainer Harvey Wilson was pleased with the result despite his charge putting in a few rough jumps early on in the event.

"He's not the best jumper going around and he was a little dicey early on there," Wilson said.

"Isaac handled him beautifully though and came into it at the right time and he was tough at the end.

"He seems to like it here at Trentham as that was his second win and he can handle it when it gets pretty deep."

Wilson believes Bad Boy Brown can match it with the better hurdlers going around so will test that theory in some of the feature hurdle events over the winter months.

"He has won three out of his four hurdle races and the other time at Rotorua he was pulled up with a slipped saddle," he said.

"He can have a run in an amateur

flat race at Waverley next and then we will come back for the Wellington Hurdle in June.

"If he can go well in a race like that, then we might have a think about a trip south for the Grand National Hurdle after that, but it is still a wee way off at this stage.

"He didn't race over the hurdles last season as he had had a bit of trouble with his feet but, touch wood, he is over that now and we can set him for those better races."

Wilson was also pleased with stablemate It's A Wonder (NZ) (Istidaad) who finished third in his steeplechase debut after making most of the pace in a restricted open contest over 4000m.

"He (It's A Wonder) jumped well but he got a little bit lost in his first taste of the figure eight course," he said.

"I think his future is over the bigger fences so we will just take him along slowly before we get too ambitious with him."

The victory by Bad Boy Brown provided Lupton with the first of a unique double on the day as he also visited the winner's enclosure later on as the owner of promising winter galloper Herengawe who prevailed in the rating 72 1400m contest to bring up his fourth career victory from just 11 starts.

LEADING NOT HIS FORTE BUT VULCAN STILL SCORES

The plan was to sit handy but Vulcan (NZ) (Per Incanto) adapted well to the change in circumstances to go all the way at his maiden win on Sunday.

Trainer Shane Baertschiger and jockey John Powell had worked out that the Per Incanto three-year-old was better suited by waiting tactics, but with none of his 12 rivals keen to show the way and the fact he jumped from the inside alley, he found himself taking charge by default in the $75,000

Restricted Maiden race over 1200m.

They got away fairly cheaply with Glenafton (NZ) (Highly Recommended) and Back To Life (Moshe) keeping tabs on him at respectable distance. Into the home straight, Vulcan streaked clear to a two-length break before holding out the late challenge by Lucky Trio (Drumbeats) who came flying home on the outside but could only cut back the margin to three parts of a length.

“That’s not the way to ride him. He’s better off sitting in third or fourth, he gets lost in front,” said Baertschiger.

“But there was no speed, JP had no other option but to lead. He’s a much better horse if he can take a sit.

“In the straight, he was still lost, he doesn’t know what he’s doing. There’s plenty of upside to him.

“He won on a yielding track in New Zealand. So, I was not worried about the track today.

“Looking at the form today, I thought he had a good chance to win.”

Powell confirmed Baertschiger’s assessment about the involuntary change of strategy inside the first furlong.

“The instructions were to sit in four or five, but they did not go quick. I then just let him slide to the front,” said the Australian jockey.

“With the soft lead, I thought he would have a kick left in him, but he was walking in the last 50. We’ll take a sit with him next and hopefully he’ll go better.”

KING'S SPEECH DELIVERS AT FIRST 1800M TEST

A rails-hugging run without going around any horse saw King's Speech (NZ) (Darci Brahma) post a hard-fought victory at his first test over 1800m on Sunday.

Surprisingly friendless in the market at $82 despite his closing third at his first attempt at Class 3 level three weeks ago, the Darci Brahma four-year-old also cut a lonely figure along the fence as the rest of the field went wide around the home turn in Sunday's $70,000 Class 3 race over 1800m.

After being used up early to find the lead and tow the rest for most of the race, Karisto (Written Tycoon) was hanging on for dear life as the swoopers descended thick and fast.

Given his early exertions, Karisto did a sterling job to hold the fort for as long as he could, but King's Speech, in contrast, had benefitted from an economical run while taking the shortest way home.

The St George Stable-owned gelding snuck along the rail and stuck to the task manfully as the winning post arrived in time as they scraped home by a nose from Gold Strike Iffraaj).

With trainer Stephen Gray currently in England to oversee Singapore champion sprinter Lim's Cruiser in his tilt at Royal Ascot on June 22 (Group 1 Diamond Jubilee Stakes over 1200m), it was his wife Bridget who was on hand to lead in their 11th winner back home.

"Simon (Kok) rode him well. This horse suits him," said Gray.

"He didn't panic at the start and he certainly knows the horse as he won on him two runs back.

"Steve will be glad with today's winner. He was also very happy with the way Lim's Cruiser travelled to England.

"He ate and drank well and arrived in England yesterday. It's onwards and upwards."

Kok said King's Speech was certainly in a winning frame of mind as he scraped paint on Sunday.

"He's a special horse. I rode him at his previous two runs," said the Malaysian apprentice jockey.

"Today, he jumped ordinary. He hangs in, it's not easy to get him out.

"I had to ride him for luck. I was happy with what I had underneath and he seemed happy to be there.

"He's got the potential to go further."
