SAMPSON CONFIRMS SHOT AT EAGLE FARM FEATURE

Evergreen stayer Sampson in winning action at Trentham earlier this year (Trish Dunell)

Evergreen stayer Sampson (NZ) (Dubai Destination) confirmed his place in the Gr.3 Tattersall's Cup (3000m) at Eagle Farm this coming weekend with a fighting run for second in the Listed Ipswich Cup (2150m) on Saturday.

The Howie Matthews-trained nine-year-old never looked like shirking his task as he slugged it out with eventual winner Bergerac (Drumbeats) for the length of the Ipswich straight after working hard to dispute the pace for the last 800m of the contest.

Matthews was thrilled with the run and the judgment exhibited by rider Mark Du Plessis who was having just his second raceday ride on the horse.

"I said to Mark before he went out that I wanted him to use every ounce of his skill as a world class jockey to give the old boy his best chance at winning the race," Matthews said.

"We could see from the speed map that there wasn't really a pacemaker in the race so I was keen for him to roll forward if he could. In saying that, you often get two or three others that think the same thing so I didn't want to see him get caught in a war up front.

"He (Sampson) was just a little tardily away so Mark did exactly the right thing by dropping him in and taking cover before asking him to come into the race when he did.

“He won the New Zealand St. Leger (2600m Listed) at Trentham with a similar effort and he nearly pulled it off again on Saturday.”

Matthews is thrilled with how his charge has settled into the Australian environment as he looks towards to his next challenge at Eagle Farm.

“He is loving it over here as it is like being at home in the summer,” he said.

“It is normally around 27 degrees and he has blossomed.

“He has certainly paid his way and there are numerous other opportunities for him that are coming up over the next few weeks.

“He looks an excellent chance in the Tatts Cup this weekend as the 3000m will be perfect for him while there is also the option of the Caloundra Cup (2400m Listed) a week later if he pulled up alright.

“A month later there is the Queensland Cup (3200m Listed) at Eagle Farm again so we are a little spoiled for choice if he can maintain his form and the handicapper treats him well.”

Matthews advised that once Sampson’s current campaign was concluded he would spell him in the warmer Queensland weather before making any future plans for the horse.

SURPRISE BABY TO EMBARK ON PATH TO CUP

Paul Preusker is still ruing the nose defeat of Surprise Baby (NZ) (Shocking) in The Andrew Ramsden Stakes which cost the stayer a guaranteed start in the Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m).

Surprise Baby and eventual winner Steel Prince (Nathaniel) staged a two-horse war up the Flemington straight on May 25 with the Anthony Freedman-trained gelding prevailing by the barest possible margin.

Steel Prince earned a Cup ballot exemption for winning while Surprise Baby was in a distressed state post-race before quickly recovering and has enjoyed time in the paddock since.

Surprise Baby will soon return to Preusker's stable to begin his quest for a start in the Melbourne Cup at Flemington in November.

Preusker has not mapped out a plan on how to get to the big race, but said Gr.3 The Bart Cummings (2500m), at Flemington in October, was a logical step.

Like The Andrew Ramsden, The Bart Cummings gives the winner ballot-free entry into the Melbourne Cup.

"What a difference a nose makes. That was cruel really but anyway, that's life," Preusker said.

"I haven't mapped out a program yet but the obvious one is The Bart Cummings that I'll line up in, but I'll probably listen to my horse and see how he does as to how we get there.

"That'll be his first target and then hopefully the big one."

Preusker said he does not want to give Surprise Baby too much more time off, preferring to keep some residual fitness on the gelding.

"He seems really good," Preusker said.

"He'll come back into the stable shortly. I don't want him out for too long as he is a horse that does a bit better when he's in work.

"He's a busy horse. We'll keep pottering around with him and keep him happy."

Surprise Baby has raced eight times, registering four wins, including the G.2 Adelaide Cup (3200m) at Morphettville at his sixth start.

SO YOU WIN

A SYDNEY MONEY SPINNER

Hallmark Stud graduate So You Win (So You Think) notched his fifth career victory when successful at Rosehill on Saturday over 1800m.

Purchased by Chris Waller Racing for $220,000 at the 2016 New Zealand Bloodstock Premier Yearling Sale, So You Win has now won in excess of A$350,000 and was well-supported by punters on Saturday.

"He showed a glimpse of his ability last preparation and he has come back better this campaign," Waller said of the four-year-old.

"He is racing more consistently and prizemoney is the key. It is not just about the big Group One races, it is about these horses and even midweek horses. Racing is in a good spot and it is 52 weeks of the year in Sydney.

Waller was cautious as to where he would place So You Win next and a little critical of the staying program in New South Wales.

"I think he can win a Listed race at this time of the year, possibly a Grafton Cup or something like that," he said.

"I just don't want to fall into the trap of stepping horses up in distance too quickly. There are not as many staying options around these days and Racing NSW get a few calls from me week in, week out.

"Apart from the prizemoney side of things, if we could just get a few more staying races I'd be even more happy."

So You Win is out of the US bred mare Rhode Island Red, a Tale of the Cat half-sister to multiple Grade One winner Habibt (NZ) (Ekraar).

BUSINESS AS USUAL FOR LOCAL PARTNERSHIP

The local training partnership of Chris Gibbs and Michelle Bradley were back to doing what they do best on their home patch at Ruakaka on Saturday - producing winners.

The pair picked up four victories and six placings from their 18 runners on the day with none more impressive than three-year-old Mac Attacka (NZ) (Makfi).

The Makfi gelding had impressed when making a winning debut at the venue back in May but followed up with a disappointing run on a Heavy10 surface at Ellerslie earlier this month. Back to a Dead5 track on the weekend, Mac Attacka produced a sustained finish from well back on the home corner to defeat his age-group rivals over 1600m, including stablemate Quizmaster (NZ) (Iffraaj) who finished runner-up.

"It was good to see him bounce back like that after the disappointment of Ellerslie," Chris Gibbs said.

"In hindsight, we probably shouldn't have run him that day but we thought with his breeding he might cop it on a wet track and we were looking to see if he was worth taking to Queensland for a hit and run raid on the Sunshine Coast Guineas (Gr.3 1600m).

“That hasn’t panned out for him but he did remind people of what he is capable of on Saturday.”

Immaturity issues contributed to a late appearance on the track for Mac Attacka but Gibbs is confident he is over those problems now.

“He trialled up as a two-year-old but he just wasn’t mature enough and he picked up a few of those niggly issues you get with younger horses as a result of that,” Gibbs said.

“He is definitely getting much better these days so I think we will see an even better horse for his next campaign.”

Gibbs was also impressed with the effort of emerging stayer Dragon Storm (NZ) (Shocking), who picked up his third career victory in the day’s opening event despite bungling the start of the 2100m contest.

“That was a good performance from Dragon Storm and a good ride by Matt (Cameron) as he didn’t panic when he missed away,” he said.

“Matt said he reared as the gates opened so he had to ride for luck from there on and he managed to find some.

“We think he has a lot of potential as a stayer but the issue has been trying to find a race for him. He looks like an out and out mile and half horse but there simply aren’t many of those races available in the lower grades.

“We are trying to get his rating up so we can have more options available to him. He is rising five-year-old and if we can get him into some of the better staying races next season, I think he can be competitive as he has that ability to quicken off a good tempo which is essential for a stayer.”

Gibbs also reported that dual Group One winner Danzdanzdance

(Mastercraftsman) would be heading back to the stable in the next week after completing a month of pre-training at co-owner Kylie Bax’s property.

“Danzdanzdance has been thriving down at Kylie’s and she will be back in the stable sometime next week,” he said.

“She looks amazing and we can’t wait to get her back.

“We are currently working out what her spring programme will look like as there are so many options available to her.

“I’m heading to Melbourne for a couple of days on Monday to look at the logistics of a campaign there but we also need to consider Sydney for her.

“With great prize-money in both Melbourne and Sydney we just need to work out what our best option is.”

MR INCREDIBULL RELISHES WINTER FOOTING

Trainer Chris Wood is hopeful he may have unearthed a leading prospect for the deep winter tracks over the next few months after Mr Incredibull (Encosta De Lago) broke his maiden status at Te Awamutu on Sunday.

The Encosta De Lago four-year-old had provided glimpses of potential in his four raceday starts prior to Sunday's 1400m maiden contest including an eye-catching finish for fifth at his last start at Pukekohe.

Relishing the testing Slow9 track conditions on offer at Te Awamutu,

Mr Incredibull looped the field at the 600m for rider Matt Cameron to dispute the pace before forging clear in the run home to score by a comfortable two and a half-length margin.

Wood was delighted with the win as he shares in the ownership of the horse with Highview Stud principal Brent Gillovic and a syndicate of friends put together by another stable client.

"It was nice to get the win as he hasn't had a lot of luck so far in his career," Wood said.

"He was supposed to be sold up to Hong Kong but failed the vet so Brent Gillovic asked me if I wanted to race him.

"One of the owners of Wooden Edge, Sam Durrant, got eight to ten of his mates together and they took a share while Gilly and I own the rest."

Wood believes Mr Incredibull has what it takes to work through the grades over the winter months provided he can find some suitable races for him.

"He certainly seemed to handle that track today once he got out wide and rolling into it," he said.

"If that's the case then he should be able to pick up another win or two as the real winter tracks are now upon us.

"The problem will be the rating 65 grade he is now in as he meets horses that have won three or four times that drop back into the grade and that makes it hard for the one-win horse to compete.

"I would like to see them reinstate a one-win only class in that grade to help those horses that struggle once they clear maidens."

The win for Wood came in a timely fashion as the meeting was abandoned shortly afterwards.

Rider Jasmine Fawcett parted company with the Andrew Meikle-trained Gingee (NZ) (Istidaad) in race four near the 800m mark when amongst a group of five runners who were disputing the lead at that point of the race.

Fawcett was taken to Waikato Hospital for x-rays that confirmed a broken arm but thankfully suffered no other major injuries in the nasty incident.

Senior riders conducted an inspection of the track at the point of the fall and after discussions with stipendiary stewards, the decision was made to abandon the meeting.

SAFEER SPRINGS A MINI UPSET DESPITE BAD GATE

Safeer (NZ) (Savabeel) bounced back to the winner's circle after more than eight months when he powered home to lower the colours of hot favourite Grand Koonta (Dark Angel) in a driving finish on Saturday.

The four-year-old son of Savabeel last scored in the Kranji Stakes C Division 1 race over 1200m in September when the race was slated as the third leg of the Premier Gateway International Jockeys Challenge, under champion South African jockey Aldo Domeyer, who plies his trade in Hong Kong nowadays.

The Michael Clements-trained Safeer was left to smoke his pipe at the rear before charging home to run third at his last start, but first-time partner Joseph Azzopardi elected to stay in midfield this time, following right behind $8 hot favourite Grand Koonta.

Grand Koonta was set alight in the home straight as he tried to complete a hat-trick of wins, however, he had had not reckoned with Safeer who edged past on the outside and went on to prevail by a short head.

Assistant trainer Michael White was on hand to welcome the team's 31st winner for the season. The Australian horseman worked with Perth trainer Simon Miller for some years prior to coming to Singapore, and he knew Azzopardi from then.

He applauded Azzopardi for his judgement of the race, and that the young jockey from Perth is a worthy addition to the riding ranks at Kranji.

"Obviously, we thought it'd be hard from that barrier (12) because of the good field, but he got a 14 out of 10 ride from Joey," said White.

"It's not really a surprise that he won, because he's been so luckless for such a long time through bad barriers. He had no luck.

"Joey summed up the race perfectly. He got a cover and put him in a perfect spot, then found the right horse and he was just too good in the end.

Safeer scores nicely at Kranji (STC)

"I've known him since he was a kid, and I know he has always been a huge talent. He's hungry for wins and there's a whole lot of future ahead of him.

"I will just keep the horse ticking over. He's probably just a Class 3 horse, but he's genuine, so it's great that he picked up a win today."

With his four wins and three placings from 18 starts, Safeer has amassed more than $180,000 in prizemoney for the Al-Arabiya Stable.

GRAY'S ACROBAT THE PERFECT SEND-OFF FOR CLARK

Visiting apprentice jockey Raquel Clark wrapped up her last meeting at Kranji on Saturday with a winner aboard Acrobat (NZ) (Pins) when he got up where it mattered in the $75,000 Restricted Maiden race over 1400m.

The cheerful lass is at her first stint overseas as the latest Dux of the South Australian Apprentice Academy to benefit from a long-standing deal struck between Thoroughbred Racing South Australia and the Singapore Turf Club.

She made her debut on May 31 at Kranji and landed her first win in the Silver Bowl (1400m), the newly-created first leg of the Singapore Four-Year-Old Challenge series with the Cliff Brown-trained What's New (NZ) (Casino Prince) on Sunday.

Last season's South Australian metropolitan champion apprentice jockey hustled up Acrobat to the front from the inside gate but Fight To Victory (NZ) (Super Easy) had designs on the lead as well, so Clark opted for the three-year-old son of Pins to follow behind in second.

Turning for home, Acrobat was chasing Fight To Victory hard and joined issue at the 100m as he locked in a tussle with Fight To Victory till the end, where he gained the upper hand by a head to knock in his first win.

The 25-year-old rider was overjoyed with her second winner for trainer Stephen Gray, whom is currently in Newmarket overseeing Singapore's champion sprinter Lim's Cruiser's (Casino Prince) preparation towards the Gr.1 Diamond Jubilee Stakes (1200m) at Royal Ascot on June 22.

"I ride him at work in the mornings," said Clark.

"He tried hard and was definitely in for the fight there.

"The inside horse (Fight To Victory) continued to kick back halfway up the straight, and I thought he (Acrobat) was really going to weaken, but he got there on the line and that's what counts.

"The Grays have been great to me and they treat me like a family, so it's nice to get a winner on board for them.

"Thank you, Singapore. I have enjoyed my stay here a lot. Even if it was without a winner, it'd still be a great time.

"Glad that I have two (winners) now. I will be leaving on Sunday night, and then back riding in Adelaide on Wednesday."

A $105,000 purchase from the Leanach Lodge draft at the 2017 NZ Bloodstock National Yearling Sale, Acrobat has had nine starts for one win and two seconds, raking in more than $85,000 for the Acrobat Stable.
