DANZDANZDANCE TO TACKLE WORLD'S BEST MARE

Danzandance is likely to tackle wonder-mare Winx in the Gr.1 Queen Elizabeth Stakes (2000m) at Randwick next month (Trish Dunell)

A gutsy performance for third in Saturday's Gr.1 Ranvet Stakes (2000m) at Rosehill has all but ensured class performer Danzandance (Mastercraftsman) has booked a battle with a world champion next month.

The Chris Gibbs and Michelle Bradley-trained Mastercraftsman four-year-old looked every inch at home in Australian Group One company on the weekend as she came from well back in the early running to finish third behind winner Avilius (Pivotal) in the Ranvet.

It was enough to convince Bradley that Danzandance deserved the chance to take her place in the A$4million Gr.1 Queen Elizabeth Stakes (2000m) at Randwick on April 13, the race set down as the swansong for wonder-mare Winx.

Bradley was full of smiles as she described her feelings after Saturday's contest.

"It was a superb effort," she said.

"Opie (rider Opie Bosson) said that there was no-one really going for the lead and she (Danzdanzdance) started travelling and getting up on the bit.

"She's a horse that does need cover, as once she gets it, she settles.

"If he'd just let her go a little bit forward and got one spot handier (she might have got closer at the finish), but we're stoked with that run, just really happy."

Bradley admitted they were now ready to roll the dice and take on Winx at Randwick.

"Well we press on (from here)," she said.

"We know Winx is obviously going to be in the Queen Elizabeth, but if you're not in it you can't win it.

"You've got to give it a go.

"As long as we've pulled up fine then we will be paying up and going there."

Danzdanzdance is also likely to face off against another of her rivals from Saturday in the Queen Elizabeth Stakes with Ranvet runner-up, He's Eminent (Frankel), also likely to progress on to the race.

The Sir Peter Vela-owned five-year-old was gallant in defeat in the Ranvet Stakes after making all of the pace with his trainer, dual Olympic gold-medallist Sir Mark Todd, keen to see him take his place against Winx.

"I was thrilled with his run," Todd said.

"For a horse who has never run on ground like that and not having run since August last year, that was always going to be our weak link.

"He's run a huge race and pulled up very well, so we just have to hope for good ground next time.

"We will see how he comes through this, but I think it will really bring him on, with the Queen Elizabeth being our main target all along."

The Queen Elizabeth Stakes is the feature event on the second day of The Championships at Royal Randwick with a capacity crowd expected to turn out to see Winx try to end her stellar career with her 33rd consecutive victory.

An impeccably-bred son of Frankel, He's Eminent is likely to take up stud duties in New Zealand at the conclusion of his racing career.

ADRIAN KNOX NEXT STOP FOR PRINCESS JENNI

David Brideoake has high expectations for Princess Jenni (NZ) (High Chaparral) who is Sydney-bound for the autumn carnival.

The lightly raced filly scored at stakes level at The Valley on Friday night under Damien Oliver, circling the field to win the Gr.3 Alexandra Stakes (1600m).

Brideoake said the filly would now travel to Sydney for the Gr.3 Adrian Knox Stakes (2000m) at Randwick on April 6.

The Mornington-based trainer said Princess Jenni had been beset by a number of niggling problems which had delayed the start to her autumn campaign.

She ran a first-up seventh to Spanish Whisper (Lope de Vega) in the Gr.2 Kewney Stakes (1400m) at Flemington on March 9 ahead of her success on Friday night.

Brideoake said he would have liked another run under her belt before heading to Sydney for the Adrian Knox after which he will make a decision whether to back her up in the Gr.1 Australian Oaks (2400m) a week later.

"I will make a judgment call whether she is still too brilliant to run in the Oaks depending on how we go over the 2000 metres," Brideoake said.

"If she arrives up in Sydney in good shape you would have to think she'd be a force to be reckoned with.

"That long sustained run impressed me and Damien has been in touch and will ride her in Sydney."

If Brideoake thinks Princess Jenni may prove too brilliant for the 2400m of the Australian Oaks, he could instead switch his attention to Adelaide and the Gr.1 Australasian Oaks (2000m) at Morphettville on May 4.

Brideoake says Princess Jenni has the potential to be one of the best horses he has trained.

"As a filly with sustained speed and with that level of stamina, she impresses me," Brideoake said.

RIGHT CHOICE DIGS DEEP FOR DE SOUSA IN SHA TIN FEATURE

Right Choice (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) edged an enthralling duel for the Kowloon Cricket Club Centenary Cup Handicap (1600m) at Sha Tin on Sunday to sweeten what jockey Silvestre de Sousa felt was a wrong decision one race prior when his mount was relegated from first place.

The Brazilian was all but forced to lead the Class 2 feature race on the talented four-year-old, a move that almost backfired.

“The way the race was run wasn’t suitable for him, it was such a slow pace and with the weight he carried (117lb) I felt the best position would be where he was in front, so he’d be in the right place at the right time, but he was never happy to be there doing the work,” the rider said.

Fellow Brazilian Joao Moreira pressured the leader aboard top-weight Time To Celebrate (NZ) (Per Incanto), never allowing De Sousa’s mount to relax. And, when De Sousa had to ask questions of Right Choice entering the home straight, Moreira was there to pounce.

Time To Celebrate edged the lead with 400m to race and looked momentarily as though he had the 1.9 favourite’s measure. But De Sousa was in no mood for capitulation; a powerful drive galvanized Right Choice; the New Zealand-bred rallied to regain the lead at the 200m mark and then held on as the brave Time To Celebrate lunged again at the line.

“He dug deep!” De Sousa said. “I’d like to ride him again over a mile but be more patient and let him come home from the back.

“He felt like he was still immature and babyish. He just wants to be in a fast pace where he can come home strongly. I hope he’s better than he showed today.”

The Frankie Lor-trained gelding scored by a nose in 1m 35.25s to take his career tally to five wins from six starts.

“He couldn’t find any horse to lead so he got lost in front,” Lor said. “He learned something and next time, if nothing leads and he finds he’s in front, he will be better.

“I’ll look at the programme and see if we stay at a mile or go back to 1400 (metres), maybe give him a month off.”

BIGGER THINGS IN STORE FOR IMPRESSIVE TAURANGA WINNER

Progressive staying mare Artiste (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) has landed herself a black-type challenge for her next assignment after a convincing victory in the Drymix Cement Bay Of Plenty Cup (2100m) at Tauranga on Saturday.

The Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman-trained five-year-old has come of age during her current campaign with Saturday's victory her fourth in her last 7 starts and sixth in her career to date.

Capably handled by apprentice Taiki Yanagida, the Mastercraftsman mare tenaciously held out the challenge of race favourite Felaar (NZ) (Ekraar) for the length of the Tauranga straight to score a gritty three-quarter length victory.

The win has confirmed to her trainers that she is ready to tackle stakes company with Andrew Forsman indicating the Gr.3 LJ Hooker Manawatu Breeders' (2000m) at Awapuni on April 5 is a likely target.

"That was a really gutsy win that was set up by a perfect ride," Forsman said.

"I thought he (Yanagida) put her in a great spot throughout and she really benefitted from his claim, as she got a good pull in the weights from her main rivals.

"She has really strengthened up during this campaign and is reaping the benefits of that now.

“While she is going so well, we will press on with her. I would think a tilt at some black-type is the obvious choice and the race at Awapuni sets up nicely as it’s against her own sex over a good distance for her.

“She seems to handle most tracks, so if we do get the rain then I wouldn’t think it would disadvantage her at all.”

Forsman was also delighted with the run of stablemate True Enough (NZ) (Nom Du Jeu) who finished an unlucky third in the Gr.2 Windsor Park Stud Japan New Zealand International Trophy (1600m).

“He acquitted himself well in his first time against the big guns,” Forsman said.

“He didn’t have all the luck in the world as he copped a decent check turning for home, but he picked himself up and ran on very strongly.

“He’s another who has done well this prep so he might go to the spelling paddock now and have a good break before we bring him back in the spring.”

Forsman was philosophical about the results for the stable in Sydney on Saturday where Vin De Dance (NZ) (Roc De Cambes) and Zacada (NZ) (Zabeel) finished well back in the Gr.3 Manion Cup (2400m) while Madison County (NZ) (Pins) was a late scratching from the Gr.1 Rosehill Guineas (2000m) after suffering a minor injury when being transported to the track.

“Vin De Dance had no luck when he was three-wide throughout so you could excuse that run, whereas, on the face of it, Zacada was quite disappointing,” he said.

“We’ll take a good look at them over the next few days but at this stage we will press on with them both.

“It was just bad luck with Madison County so now we have to find something for him as his lead-up to the Australian Derby (Gr.1, 2400m).

“The likely option is the Tulloch Stakes (Gr.2, 2000m) next weekend but we will have to sit down with his owners and discuss it all as they may want to reassess where they want to go with him.

“In some ways it may have been a blessing in disguise to miss the run on Saturday as it was a very deep and testing track and I know there will be plenty of his Derby rivals who will be feeling it today.”

ROBINSON CELEBRATES PERFECT DAY AT RICCARTON

Boots 'N' All gains career win number 10 at Riccarton (Race Images South)

Local trainer Lance Robinson had plenty to celebrate at the completion of the racing action at Riccarton on Saturday after producing a perfect three-from-three result during the day.

Promising three-year-old Khimar War (NZ) (Sweet Orange) started the day off well when he stormed home late to snatch victory against his age group rivals over 1400m before two-year-old debutant Live Drama (NZ) (Ghibellines) launched her career in style with an eye-catching run to win over 1000m

Class performer Boots 'N' All (NZ) (Perfectly Ready) made it a day to remember for Robinson when he took advantage of a superb ride from apprentice Corey Campbell to land his tenth career victory in one of the day's feature events, the Seaton Family Memorial Hororata Gold Cup (1800m).

Robinson was quick to heap praise on both Campbell and the six-year-old Perfectly Ready gelding after the event.

"That was just an absolutely perfect ride by Corey," he said.

"I told him before the race to be patient and not get to the leaders too early and he just judged it to perfection.

"He (Boots 'N' All) is just a little fella and he has been struggling a bit with the big weights. The 2kg claim made a big difference to him and once again he showed just how tough he is.

"He actually went a good race at Otaki last time on a really patchy track, although on paper the result doesn't look that good. He finished less than a length off Consensus, who went out and won at Moonee Valley on Friday night (Gr.2 Sunline Stakes, 1600m), so that gave me a lot of confidence he could win as his work since then had been very good."

Robinson had been contemplating a trip north for the Gr. 2 City Of Palmerston North Awapuni Gold Cup (2000m) as the next challenge for Boots 'N' All but may stick closer to home after Saturday's victory.

"I had been thinking about the Awapuni Gold Cup but it would be his fourth trip north in this prep which might be a little too much for him," he said.

"I think the Canterbury Gold Cup (Gr.3, 2000m) next month might be a better option for him."

Robinson is also predicting a big future for the two younger members of his team who got the day off to an impressive start for him.

"It was fantastic to see Khimar War finally get some luck and show just how good he can be," he said.

"Nothing has gone right for him as he has been checked or suffered bad luck in nearly every race he has had this campaign.

"I really think he can measure up next season so I will be recommending to his owners we give him a spell now and get him ready for the spring.

"It was also very satisfying to see Live Drama win on debut as I've held her in high regard since the day we broke her in.

"I think she will be right up there with the best three-year-olds around her next season.

"We will probably give her one more run this time in, then tip her out and get her ready for a race like the Canterbury Belle Stakes (Listed, 1200m) in the spring."

DROP-BACK STYLE SUITS GOLDEN YEARS

Quieter riding tactics bore instant dividends for consistent three-year-old Golden Years (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) in the $75,000 Restricted Maiden race over 1200m on Sunday.

Held up close to the pace at four of his past five runs at Kranji, the son of Jimmy Choux still performed very well, never finishing out of the money.

But trainer Michael Clements and jockey Vlad Duric decided they would take a leaf from the only time he took a sit at the rear, not that it was really by design. From a wide draw in a similar Restricted Maiden 1200m event in November, jockey Olivier Placais had no other choice but to snag him back at the tail of the field before they came motoring home for second place.

From another awkward alley (nine) drawn in Sunday's race, Golden Years was switched off into a midfield spot and saved for that last charge to the post.

It was clear the new battle plan would come off at the top of the straight. As newcomer and race-leader Mr Alfonso (NZ) has come back stronger. I think he can go up to Class 4; he clocked a bit of time today.

"We've been half-thinking about the Three-Year-Old Sprint in a couple of weeks. From the way he ran today, it's possible, but we'll have to see if he has enough ratings to get in."

The Singapore Three-Year-Old Challenge kicks off with the Singapore Three-Year-Old Sprint (1200m) on April 5, then proceeds to the Singapore Three-Year-Old Classic (1400m) on May 3, before wrapping up with the Singapore Guineas (1600m) on May 25.

Attacking the line down the middle, Golden Years accelerated beautifully to go and gap his rivals by just under four lengths.

"It was a great run from the horse and it's paid off. He came up with another good effort two runs back when he got back in the field and finished strongly," said Clements.

"He was gelded shortly after and

LOGAN STICKING SOLID WITH CHAN PAYS OFF

Trainer Donna Logan's faith in her apprentice jockey Desmond Chan Wei Sheng was repaid manifold with a 10-out-of-10 handling of emergency acceptor Burkaan (NZ) (Burgundy) in the $50,000 Class 4 race over 1200m on Sunday.

After three runners were scratched from the original 12-horse field, Burkaan was promoted as a starter with Logan giving Chan the nod for the ride.

The Kiwi handler could have picked a more fashionable rider, given the Singaporean lad had yet to open both his 2019 account and win account for his boss, but her gut feel and staff loyalty swayed her.

"Desmond rode him a treat. He works very hard and that's what I told him before the race, 'hard work always pays off,'" said Logan.

"I just told him not to panic and he rode a perfect race. That will help boost his confidence."

After a smart jump, Chan scrubbed the Burgundy three-year-old up to take up a prominent spot outside early leader

Master Of Malibu (Master Of Hounds), just poking his head in front throughout.

Once Chan pulled the trigger at the top of the straight, Burkaan lengthened up nicely to sail away to an emphatic 3/4-length win with the winning time 1min 12.22secs for the 1200m on Polytrack.

"This horse is pretty genuine. He's been ultra-consistent this year," said Logan.

"We won't push any buttons and panic, we'll just take him through his grades."

Chan was delighted he had finally ridden a first winner for the person who helps pay his bills.

"It's a big thrill to ride my first winner for Donna. Big thanks to her and also the Al-Arabiya Stable for putting me on this horse," said Chan who transferred his indentures to the New Zealander from the first day she landed at Kranji in January 2018.

"I'm just the rider, the trainer and the stable have done all the job. I had plenty in hand throughout and he just carried it to the line.

"He was a little keen and as he raced over 1100m the last time, I tried to relax him and save his energy for as long as I could."

Burkaan has now taken his record to two wins and two placings from 10 starts for stakes earnings closing in on the $100,000 mark for the Al-Arabiya Stable.
