BAKER PLEASED WITH QUEENSLAND DERBY CANDIDATES

Group One Queensland Derby prospect Lord Arthur wins the Gr.2 Championship Stakes at Ellerslie last month (Trish Dunell)

An exhibition gallop at the Gold Coast on Saturday by Gr.1 Queensland Derby (2400m) candidate Lord Arthur (Camelot) has Cambridge trainer Murray Baker pleased with his progress as he gets set for the Brisbane Group One feature next month.

Baker and co-trainer Andrew Forsman have taken Lord Arthur and stablemate Bobby Dee (NZ) (Zed) to Queensland in search of Derby success with both three-year-olds set to have their lead up runs in the Gr.3 Grand Prix Stakes (2200m) at Eagle Farm next weekend.

"Lord Arthur had a good hit-out at the Gold Coast on Saturday and went along nicely," Baker said.

"He needed the blow-out as he hasn't had a run since he won at Ellerslie just over a month ago.

"In saying that, he has been kept up to the mark in his work, but it was good to give him a decent run-along on Saturday.

“Bobby Dee is also going well but he didn’t need to have a gallop as he only raced at Te Rapa a fortnight ago.

“They will both take their place in the Grand Prix Stakes and barring any issue the Derby after that.”

The Baker Forsman juggernaut rolled on back at home over the weekend with three winners including a brace at the Awapuni meeting with two-year-old filly She’s A Lady (NZ) (Swiss Ace) and valuable broodmare prospect Hinerangi (Fastnet Rock) in the Listed Rangitikei Gold Cup (1600m).

“It was great for Hinerangi to get that all-important black-type win on Saturday,” Baker said.

“She is a Fastnet Rock mare from a good family and that win has added significantly to her future broodmare career.

“She will go for a good break now and then we’ll bring her back for the spring.”

Baker is also looking to a black-type feature for Swiss Ace filly She’s A Lady who showed plenty of grit for her maiden win at her stable debut for Baker and Forsman after doing her early racing from Richard Yuill’s Pukekohe stable.

“We’ve got a fair bit of time for her (She’s A Lady) as she has shown us a lot since we’ve had her,” he said.

“She showed plenty of determination to get the win, especially in the last 100m and has pulled up well afterwards.

“I think we can take a look at a race like the Castletown Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at Wanganui next month, now she has shown she can handle a wet track.”

Baker and Forsman currently sit atop the national trainers’ premiership with 103 wins for the season, nine clear of nearest rival Jamie Richards, with just over two months left in the current season.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Speedy Jax wins inaugural Two Rivers Steeple

Casterton played host to the inaugural Two Rivers Steeplechase on Sunday’s Cup Day program and the Patrick Payne-trained Speedy Jax (NZ) (Spartacus) took out the $75,000 feature.

Casterton is the only track in Australia to feature a full live-hedge course and Sunday’s Two Rivers field were asked to negotiate twenty steeplechases on the gruelling 3800 metre course.

New Zealand eight-year-old Speedy Jax was making his Australian steeple debut having had two runs on the flat since landing in Victoria.

Incredibly, as the field of nine headed over the 18th of 20 steeplechases there was just a couple of lengths separating first and last.

It was a stirring finish to the inaugural Two Rivers Steeplechase with just 0.4 lengths between the first three over the line.

Speedy Jax claimed a gritty and determined Pentomatic (NZ) (Pentire) in the straight before defying a challenge from the race favourite Ascot Red (Casino Prince), who flew late and only needed another couple of strides to claim victory.

Bred and owned by Dame Wendy Pye and her husband Don, Speedy Jax won nine races in New Zealand, including two over fences, before being transferred to the stable of Patrick Payne earlier this year. – Racing .com

BIG MIKE READY TO PUT ANOTHER STAMP IN HIS PASSPORT

As far as dress rehearsals go, you don't get much better than the performance free-going stayer Big Mike (NZ) (Don Eduardo) put on at Te Rapa on Saturday.

Last year's Listed Pakenham Cup (2500m) winner was on trial for another trip across the Tasman for trainers Craig and Shaun Phelan and he passed with flying colours as he led all the way to record a hollow victory over 2100m in the opening race on the day.

Ridden by regular rider Vinnie Colgan, the six-year-old Don Eduardo gelding looked to be relishing his work throughout and has now provided his trainers with a decision to make on exactly where he will head in the immediate future.

"We really wanted to see a run like that after the hiccup he had in the Easter Handicap (Gr.2, 1600m), where he finished last," Shaun Phelan said.

"It was great to see him bounce back like that and we can now sit down and plan where he goes next.

"We are keen on some of the races in Brisbane, but the problem is there are no direct flights available now.

"That means he will either have to go to Sydney and make a float trip up to Brisbane or he can go for a one-race raid to Melbourne.

"The option in Melbourne is the Andrew Ramsden (Listed, 2800m) next Saturday or he can race over 2400m in Sydney in a fortnight and then go to Brisbane for the Brisbane Cup (Gr.2, 2400m) and the Caloundra Cup (Listed, 2400m) after that.”

While Phelan isn't sure exactly which path they will take with the eight-race winner, he was taking some time on Sunday to enjoy his first victory as a trainer in the newly minted partnership with father Craig.

“I guess it was quite appropriate that the first win we had together is with the best horse in our stable,” he said.

“It was also great to have Vinnie on board as he is a good family friend, so all in all it was a great start to the day.”

Phelan tried hard to make it a unique double on the day with a victory in his capacity as one of New Zealand's leading jumps riders but had to settle for a second placing on maiden hurdler El Fernando as well as finishing third on Tommyra in the Fairview Motors Waikato Hurdles (3200m).

“El Fernando went a really good race but the winner (Woodsmen) was just too good with his pace on the flat and the 3kg allowance,” he said.

“Tommyra also went well, although he could still be a run away from his peak. He didn't chuck it away when chasing the winner (Iffitel) home, so I think he has more in store over the winter.”

BRIDEOAKE TO RETURN TO SYDNEY FOR INQUIRY

Group One Australasian Oaks winner Princess Jenni

Victorian trainer David Brideoake will return to Sydney to front an adjourned Racing NSW stewards inquiry over the scratching of Princess Jenni (NZ) (High Chaparral) at Randwick.

Princess Jenni was withdrawn moments before runners left the mounting yard for the Adrian Knox Stakes on April 6 after concerns were raised she may have received illegal race day treatment.

Stewards questioned the trainer on race day about a raised lump on the filly's neck with Brideoake saying his only explanation was a drip given to the filly by a veterinarian on the Thursday before the meeting.

Blood and urine samples were taken from Princess Jenni with the inquiry to resume on Friday.

Princess Jenni was to run in the Adrian Knox Stakes on her way to the Gr.1 Australian Oaks (2400m) at Randwick, but Brideoake switched his attention to the Gr.1 Australasian Oaks (2400m) at Morphettville which she won.

The filly galloped at Mornington on Saturday in preparation for the Gr.1 Queensland Oaks (2200m) at Doomben on June 1.

"She's in good shape," Brideoake said.

"We're running through the next week-and-a-half to see how she goes for Brisbane and if it all falls into place, she'll go."

Should Princess Jenni head to Brisbane, Brideoake said the filly was likely to remain in Queensland for a short break.

"I like giving them a break up there in the warm weather," Brideoake said.

"If she runs up there, she'll have a very soft spring down here.

"She is going to mature brilliantly with time being her ally and she could be an awesome horse in the autumn.

"She's got a lot of upside."

TOPWEIGHT TOO TOUGH IN GREAT WESTERN STEEPLECHASE

Topweight Tai Ho (NZ) (Winning Boy) gave his rivals weight and a beating when he took out the time-honoured DT Kings Transport Ltd 112th Great Western Steeplechase (3900m) at Riverton on Sunday.

The Ellis Winsloe-trained eight-year-old has been one of the most consistent jumpers in the southern region for the last few seasons and numbers a runner-up finish in the 2018 Grand National Steeplechase (5600m) at Riccarton amongst his best career performances.

Winsloe had made no secret of his desire to win the Great Western and was rewarded when Tai Ho and rider Stuart Higgins delivered the trophy with a picture-perfect effort on the testing Heavy11 surface.

Winsloe had chided Higgins for an impatient effort on his charge at his most recent run with Higgins paying heed as he settled Tai Ho back off the speed before joining issue with 1000m to run. Carrying 69kgs, Tai Ho dashed to the front with three fences to clear before staying on gamely to defeat race favourite Delacroix (NZ) (Zabeel) by a length and a half at the winning post.

“He is a really good jumper who doesn’t really handle the wet ground,” Winsloe said.

“Stuey rode him better today, what he did the other day I wasn't happy with, but he waited a wee bit longer although I thought he still went a little early."

Winsloe is resigned to having to travel his charge to compete, as the local jumping scene struggles to attract enough numbers to fill fields for feature jumping events.

"It looks we will have to travel to the North Island with him as they will struggle a bit with the jumping down here," he said.

"We might head to Hawkes Bay later on or Waikato, but we will sit down and have a look at that.

"The main plan is the National (at Riccarton) but we will have to see how the handicapper treats us as we get a bit knocked around down here."

Earlier in the day local runner The Energizer (NZ) (Shinko King) came from a long last in the mid-stages to down race favourite Banbury Lad (NZ) (Woodbury Lad) in the day's feature hurdle event, the Donald White Hedgecutting Great Western Hurdle (2500m).

The talented Shinko King eight-year-old bided his time at the rear of the field throughout for rider James Seivwright and still spotted the leaders more than ten lengths with less than 800m to run.

Seivwright got busy on the Kelvin and Aimee Tyler-trained runner before looming into contention at the second to last fence. The Energizer cleared the final obstacle in fine style as he shot clear to defeat Banbury Lad and record his fourth win over fences and the tenth of his 80-start career.

Co-trainer Kelvin Tyler cut a satisfied figure as he waited for his charge to return to the Riverton birdcage.

"This was the one we were after," he said.

"We've just been ticking away, and James said he was going to ride him a bit more patiently today as that's how he seems to race best.

"To be fair I was a bit worried about the 800m, but he hit the line good so we're pretty happy.

"We'll have a chat to the owners and we might go to Wellington (Wellington Hurdle) with him next."

Seivwright gave the crowd something more to cheer about as The Energizer dropped him as he made his way into the birdcage with Seivwright providing a good-natured bow and wave after collecting himself and the horse once he was back on his feet.

LITTLE BRO SHOWCASES HIS OWN QUALITIES

A pep talk between brothers seems to have brought out those winning family genes in Our Showcase (NZ) (Showcasing) on Sunday.

The Showcasing four-year-old's half-brother Supernova (both out of Carnegie mare Our Girl Nelson) won at the ripe old age of 10 on Friday night, registering his 11th win from 78 starts.

Both are prepared by Kiwi trainer Bruce Marsh, who said he took Our Showcase, who had till then yet to break his duck in 12 starts, to Supernova's box on Sunday morning to hopefully draw some inspiration from his much more prolific older brother.

Whether the family connection stirred something up in Our Showcase, Marsh will never know, but it wouldn't really matter – the end result showed Our Showcase first, ahead of favourite My Fat Kiddy (Al Maher) who flew home late to just come up short by half-a-length.

"The boys had a good talk this morning. It seems to have worked," said Marsh.

"He was an outlaw in New Zealand. He had the blinkers on in New Zealand, but they didn't seem to work here.

"We've taken them off at his last couple of runs, and he ran a lot better, except that he came back lame at his last run.

"It's also great to have Laurie Laxon with me this morning. He brought us luck."

The former nine-time Singapore champion trainer was in town on holiday and was his usual good-spirited self at the winner's stall.

ZyruL, who was aboard Supernova as well on Friday, was another one with a beaming smile at the lead-in.

"He's a half-brother to Supernova, and they had a good talk before the aces," said the in-form Singaporean apprentice jockey who was at his fourth May winner to sit in sixth spot on six winners on the log.

"He's still a little green, he was switching legs down the back," said the New Zealand-trained rider.

"The problem with this horse is he is too intelligent for his own good and that's why he had not won a race yet.

"We took the blinkers off and it basically told him to go forward and do what he had to do, and he's responded in the best possible way today."

Thanks to three seconds and one third picked up earlier in his career, Our Showcase has now amassed close to $60,000 in prizemoney for Mr Cheah Kim Teck.
