JON SNOW A SOUTHERN COUP

Group One winner Jon Snow will stand at Clearview Park Stud in Timaru for $6,000+GST (Bradley Photography)

Clearview Park Stud in Timaru have announced they have secured Group One winner Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj) ahead of the forthcoming breeding season where he will stand for a fee of $6,000+GST.

Aaron Tapper and his partner Lacy Stewart are delighted to welcome the good-looking son of Iffraaj, named after the lead character in the hit-series Game Of Thrones, to Clearview Park Stud.

"We're just so excited to have the King in the North down here," Tapper quipped.

"It's a real coup for South Island breeders and owners to be able to access a horse of Jon Snow's quality. We are standing him in association with the Zame family, who raced him, and we believe at $6,000+GST he is very reasonably priced in the marketplace.

"To have a young, Group One-winning stallion that is fresh off the track and in people's minds, it will certainly help the breeders down here who will have a fantastic commercial option to breed to without the cost of sending mares to the North Island."

Forsman, Jon Snow competed at the highest level on both sides of the Tasman, winning four of his 23 starts and was placed on a further eight occasions.

A winner over 1200m at two, Jon Snow capped an outstanding three-year-old season when winning both the Gr.2 Tulloch Stakes (2000m) and Gr.1 Australian Derby (2400m) in the space of seven days in Sydney.

The strapping entire had been stakes-placed on five occasions in the lead-up to that Australian raid, placing in the Gr.1 Levin Classic (1600m), Gr.1 New Zealand Derby (2400m), Gr.2 Hawke's Bay Guineas (1400m), Gr.2 Great Northern Guineas (1600m) and Listed Karaka 3YO Mile (1600m).

At four, Jon Snow won the Gr.3 JRA Cup (2040m) at Moonee Valley before placing in the Gr.1 Caulfield Stakes (2000m).

After 10 months on the sidelines with a foot issue, he added a further Group One placing to his record in the Makybe Diva Stakes (1600m) behind Grunt (NZ) (O'Reilly) and signed off when placed behind Danzdanzdance (Mastercraftsman) in the Gr.1 Zabeel Classic (2000m) on Boxing Day.

"He raced at the highest level in Australia and was competitive with the best," co-trainer Murray Baker said.

"He measured up to both Sydney and Melbourne Group One class, which is no mean feat.

"He was a winner at two and had plenty of speed and he was a genuine racehorse with a fantastic temperament. He was a pleasure to have in the stable."

Training partner Andrew Forsman also spoke glowingly of the horse he purchased on behalf of the Zame family as a yearling.

"Obviously he is quite a big horse and physically imposing," Forsman said.

"He was a good mover, everything about him appealed. We had Turn Me Loose (also by Iffraaj) at the time and there were a lot of similar qualities there. As a physical type he was hard to fault, just a good size and he did everything right.

"A lot of people don't realise that he competed at weight-for-age against some of the best horses in Australasia," Forsman said.

"He won an Australian Derby and was right up with the best of his generation. He was third in a Makybe Diva (Gr.1, 1600m) and at a mile at weight-for-age, at that time of the year, it doesn't get much more competitive anywhere in the world and he was right there."

One of nine Group One winners for high-class sire Iffraaj, Jon Snow is the first foal out of the two-time winning O'Reilly mare Orinda, a half-sister to multiple Group Three winner (Mr) Ubiquitous.

Bred by Richard Moore of Soliloquy Lodge, Jon Snow's third dam is triple Group One winner and New Zealand Filly of the Year Solveig.

It is a family which has, through the years, provided Group One winners the likes of Culminate, Captivate, Gallic, Fiveandahalfstar and Eileen Dubh.

"He is free of Danehill blood and his first dam is by O'Reilly, his second dam is by Zabeel and his third dam was a champion," Tapper said.

"We would hope to send around 15 mares of our own to Jon Snow and the Zame family will also be supporting him.

"Lacy part-owns Rideitlikeustoleit with local trainer Pat Collins, and she is a Group placed half-sister to Gingernuts who will potentially visit Jon Snow, while we also have a close relation to Melody Belle that will go to him."

Both Tapper and Stewart come from racing families. Aaron's father Bruce trains in Timaru, while his grandfather was successful Matamata owner-trainer Hec Tapper.

Meanwhile Stewart assists her grandfather, Leonard Stewart, who also trains from Timaru.

LITTLE GIANT COMES UP BIG FOR HALL IN SHA TIN VASE

Little Giant (NZ) (Swiss Ace) sealed victory in the Gr.3 Sha Tin Vase Handicap (1200m) under a cool, collected ride from Zac Purton who claimed a six-timer at Sha Tin.

The win was trainer David Hall's second Group-race win this term, having waited through a four-year blank in Pattern class before Ho Ho Khan's (NZ) (Makfi) victory in the Gr.3 Queen Mother Memorial Cup (2400m) earlier this month.

"I was pretty relieved that he could get the job done today, it was a testing sort of a race with the big weight, but he's put up two terrific performances at Group One level – third and a fourth," Hall said.

Little Giant settled fourth in the run under Purton, before peeling out in the straight – cruising to a three-quarter length victory ahead of Dragon General (Reaan), with last-start Gr.1 Al Quoz Sprint (1200m) seventh Wishful Thinker (Starcraft) in third.

Little Giant has now secured four Hong Kong wins from 10 starts in a career that has been stop-start in the past due to physical issues.

"To be able to get that win and as you said he had a lot of troubles last year, so it's great to see," said Hall.

The wet track wasn't a hindrance to Little Giant who handled the good to yielding ground with ease, carrying top-weight of 133lb to victory.

“He can handle it, I think, but the heavier the track gets the harder it gets to carry the weight, so it’s always a little bit of a concern,” Hall said.

The trainer will target Little Giant towards the Gr.1 LONGINES Hong Kong Sprint (1200m) in December at Sha Tin.

“He’ll just go through the traditional path leading into December now, he’ll have a rest and hopefully we can be there in the Group 1 sprint in December,” he said.

Little Giant finished fourth in last year’s Hong Kong Sprint, beaten a length and three quarters behind

Mr Stunning (Exceed And Excel), but Hall now hopes his gelding will use today’s win as a springboard to further improvement.

“It’s hard, when he’s only had as many starts as he’s had and to get where he got to, you’re still hopeful there might be a little bit more there,” Hall said.

“He got beat less than two lengths in December and got beat three quarters of a length the other day (in the Gr.1 Chairman’s Sprint Prize) and if you look at it he’s got a little bit closer, he’s pulled that win off today.”

Little Giant is a product of Gerry

Harvey’s Westbury Stud in Karaka and was unbeaten under the name Blackcrown in two starts in New Zealand for trainer Lisa Latta, before being sold to Hong Kong clients.

WALKER AT HIS FRONT-RUNNING BEST IN SINGAPORE PREMIERSHIP

Ex-pat kiwi Mark Walker continued his impressive run of form in Singapore on Saturday with a winning double that sees him sitting six wins clear of his nearest rival in the race for the trainers' premiership.

Walker, who won five premierships in New Zealand before moving to Singapore in 2011, topped the trainers' list in 2015 and 2017 and is looking to make it title number three this season.

While delighted with his brace of wins on Saturday, Walker admitted the day was made even more special by the presence of a group of kiwis who were on hand to cheer him along courtesy of a tour organised by one of the principals of Te Akau Racing, Karyn Fenton-Ellis.

"I think this is either the third or fourth time Karyn has brought a group up here to Singapore and they have had a ball," Walker said.

"They arrived on Thursday to take a look around our operation up here and to attend the races on Saturday.

"Most of them have shares in horses up here, so they could see first-hand how we do things and the truly impressive facilities that we operate in.

"The Kranji facility is world-class and I think it was an eye-opener for those who hadn't been here before.

"They really had a good time at the races and with the stable winning twice I hope they got a bit back to help fund their stay."

Walker is pleased with how the season has played out so far and is confident he has the firepower to remain in title contention throughout.

"We have got a really good team around us and have a good spread of horses right through the grades," he said.

Trainer Mark Walker (front) with the kiwi tour group supporting him at Kranji on Saturday

"There are some very promising younger horses coming through, while we still have plenty of ammunition for the better classes so I think we can be in the fight all season.

"There is still a long way to go but I'd rather be six in front than six behind right now."

While reluctant to single out any particular horse to watch from the stable Walker is keen on his chances of picking up one of the Singapore feature events, the S$1 million Singapore Derby (1800m) later in July.

"We've got four or five live chances that we are aiming at the Derby including the very promising Sacred Croix," he said.

"He is a Savabeel gelding who is owned by Raffles Farm and has won his last four starts. He is a top-quality individual and might be my best Derby chance at this stage.

"We've also got a very nice two-year-old called Admiral Winston who has won his only start and I can see him developing into a very nice horse as he matures."

PIKE TO CHASE MORE GROUP ONE GLORY

In-form New Zealand trainer Tony Pike knows all about Queensland's fickle weather but he is hoping the state's fine patch holds in the lead-up to the Group One Queensland Oaks at Doomben.

Pike continued his great winter when The Bostonian (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) completed the Group One Doomben 10,000 (1200m)-Kingsford-Smith (1300m) double at Eagle Farm on Saturday.

The Bostonian will now chase the Group One Sprint treble in the Stradbroke Handicap (1400m) on June 8.

Pike believes he will have a strong back-up in the race in Endless Drama (Lope De Vega).

"He ran on well in the Kingsford-Smith after getting back from a wide barrier," Pike said.

"With a better barrier, Endless Drama can run a big race in the Stradbroke."

Pike thought he had a great chance to claim the Oaks-Queensland Derby double with filly Provocative (NZ) (Zabeel) in 2016.

"As it turned out the Oaks meeting was washed out and they ran the Oaks on the same day as the Derby. Provocative won the Oaks but obviously never got a crack at the Derby," Pike said.

Pike has an attempt at the Group One Classic double in the back of his mind for (Our) Intrigue (NZ) (Showcasing) whose campaign in some ways mirrors that of Provocative.

The filly struggled on a heavy track in the Listed Gold Coast

Bracelet (1800m) before going to the Sunshine Coast where she won a 3YO Handicap (2200m) in mid-week company.

"She didn't go at all at the Gold Coast and we were naturally concerned by another heavy track at the Sunshine Coast but she was too classy," Pike said.

"She pulled up super and is working really well. She's a genuine Oaks chance and should have enough prize money to make the field."

Provocative won at Ipswich to boost her prize money before she contested the Oaks.

Pike also has Ipswich winner Simply Sacred (Blackfriars) in Brisbane.

Simply Sacred is entered for Ipswich on Wednesday and if she wins Pike could enter her for the Queensland Derby on June 8.

The filly has limited prize money and a win on Wednesday would boost her total to put her on the edge of gaining a Derby start. - AAP

CHEQUERED FLAG WINS AUSTRALIAN HURDLE

Jockey John Allen has continued his superb season combining both the flat and the jumps, winning the Australian Hurdle (3900m) on progressive jumper Chequered Flag (NZ) (Raise The Flag).

Allen recorded an early double at Sandown, as Ciaran Maher and David Eustace's seven-year-old cemented himself as an impressive jumper on the up, with a strong run home to defeat Killarney Kid (NZ) (Pendragon) by three lengths.

Goodwood Zodiac (Kodiac) had set a quick early pace but Allen said he was always confident in the run that his horse would be around the mark in the finish.

"It was a brutally run race today but I knew that would play to his strengths and he always jumped well, always travelling well," Allen said.

"He's a horse that I've obviously ridden in his first season and he always showed plenty of promise, good horse on the flat.

"He has no issues getting out over a trip, he jumps well, big enough to go jumping the fence so he has all the attributes to make him a National horse, a National horse over hurdles this year and maybe a National horse over the bigger ones the year after," he said.

Representing the Maher and Eustace stable, Declan Maher, said the gelding looks likely to stay over the hurdle races for now with the Kevin Lafferty Hurdle (3200m) in July as a potential target before a National campaign.

"It was a super ride, It was a really good run, great ride by Johnny," he said.

"Great bunch of owners and it was really good to get the win.

"He's put the writing on the wall after a good win at Warrnambool, his run last week in Adelaide showed that he's still got the vigour to run on the flat even,

"Credit to his previous trainer he's had him schooled up really well, Ang does a great job riding him, the whole team down at Ballarat have done a really good job with him, keep a good eye on him, keep him sound.

"We'll just see how he pulls up, you don't make decisions on raceday but he's a very progressive horse and obviously once they win a couple of these they get weighted out and you have to head in that direction."

SPRING ASSIGNMENTS ON CARDS FOR INSCRIPTION

Progressive mare Inscription (NZ) (Cape Blanco) will head to the spelling paddock next week after completing an impressive treble of wins for Cambridge trainer Ross McCarroll.

The five-year-old Cape Blanco mare showed her customary dogged finishing burst to land the opening event over 1600m at Ellerslie on Saturday, although punters who backed her into favourite at $2.20 did have some concerns when she wasn't travelling like a winner during the middle stages of the contest.

"That's pretty much her style these days," McCarroll said.

"She doesn't tend to travel that well but once she warms to her task, she has a pretty powerful finishing burst."

McCarroll, who also shares in the ownership of his charge, has always believed in the mare's ability after outlaying $12,000 for her at the 2015 Select Yearling Sale at Karaka.

"She was a good-looking type as a yearling and was from Cape Blanco's first crop," he said.

"I thought we got her for a good price and she has shown plenty of ability right from day one.

"I have also had her older sister Calligraphy in the stable and the two are like chalk and cheese.

"Calligraphy is a real sprinter-miler whereas I think this mare is going to get even better once we get her over more ground.

"She has only had one run past 1600m where she ran fourth to Rondinella over 2100m at Tauranga, so I'm looking forward to getting her over further in her next prep."

McCarroll was keen to keep Inscription going for a little longer this winter but with no suitable races available he will send her for a brief break before getting ready for a spring campaign.

"New Zealand winter racing is pretty tough really as there are no races that would entice us to keep her going," he said.

"All of the winter staying races no longer have any black-type attached to them, so she might as well have a break now and get ready for next season.

"She definitely likes some cut in the ground so we will put her away and work out a programme for the spring where we are likely to strike that type of track."

McCarroll also reported that older sister Calligraphy (NZ) (Perfectly Ready) has been retired and will most likely be sent to stud during the next breeding season.

"She (Calligraphy) has had a few joint issues that have flared up at her last couple of starts," he said.

"She just wasn't herself for those starts so I think she will be heading to the breeding barn in the spring." – NZ Racing Desk

VERBALIZER FULFILLING POTENTIAL

On a day where there were several eye-catching performances, it was the victory in the last race on the card at Ellerslie by the lightly-trying Verbalizer (NZ) (Tobique) that captured most of the attention.

Having just his second run in a new campaign, the Tobique five-year-old stormed home from near last in the hands of Troy Harris to register his second career win from just seven starts.

Trainer Shane Crawford was keen to see his charge put his best foot forward after overcoming a number of issues that would have finished the racing prospects of a lesser horse.

“We weren’t really expecting that, however I’ve always known he had the ability to be quite a smart galloper,” Crawford said.

“We’ve just had nothing but problems with him from day one.

“We bought him as a yearling at Karaka in 2015 as a Ready To Run sale prospect for later that year.

“Unfortunately, he got a stifle chip and had to have a pin inserted in his leg so that put paid to that idea.

“We kept him to race ourselves but after he had won his maiden, he got a bout of swimming colic and we nearly lost him.

“He’s no bigger than a pony but he’s made of pretty tough stuff and we got him back with Saturday’s run just his seventh overall and second this campaign.

“I wasn’t sure if he could come back as good as he was before the colic issue but on the look of what he did to them on Saturday, then I think he might just have done that.”

Whilst Verbalizer has shown he can handle some cut in the ground, Crawford is in two minds as to where to go next with his charge.

“We are just having a think about what to do with him now as there are a couple of options open to him,” he said.

“He doesn’t mind the wet tracks so he could have one more here or he could become a travelling companion for one of his stablemates who we are planning to take to Melbourne.

“We are looking to take Flying Grand over to Melbourne and this guy could go with him as he looks nicely graded for some of the better support races over there.”

The victory wrapped up a good week for Crawford who also won with Tuscan Whistler (Longhorn) at Hastings on Wednesday.

“We’ve only got a small team but we are trucking along nicely at the moment,” he said.

“Long may it continue.”

PREUSKER PLOTTING SURPRISE BABY'S MELBOURNE CUP PATH

Surprise Baby wins the Gr.2 Adelaide Cup (Atkins Photography)

Surprise Baby (NZ) (Shocking) will have to take a tougher path to the Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m) but trainer Paul Preusker is convinced the gelding will make the great race in November despite his narrow defeat in Saturday's Listed Andrew Ramsden (2800m) at Flemington.

The exciting stayer finished a nose from a guaranteed Melbourne Cup start with Steel Prince (Nathaniel) gaining the coveted slot after a thrilling finish in the $400,000 event.

Surprise Baby raced wide throughout before fighting on bravely. Preusker said the Andrew Ramsden result left him feeling a mixture of pride in Surprise Baby but disappointment in the tight result.

"It's a bit of both. You realise what barriers mean to horses and that's racing. You've just got to get in and have go," Preusker said.

"I'm just really proud of the horse."

Preusker said Surprise Baby is the best horse he has trained with a terrific turn of foot that is comparable with the stable's best sprinters.

"The amazing part about this horse is we set him for the Ramsden but you could give him a fortnight off and bring him back down the straight over 1200 and they'd know he was there," Preusker said.

"I haven't had a horse like him. I work him with the good speed horses at home and he's too good for them."

Preusker said he hadn't mapped out a program after The Andrew Ramsden but would need to decide his plans with the son of the 2010 Melbourne Cup winner Shocking.

"It's going to be tricky," Preusker said. "I banked on everything happening here and, knowing the horse will need a let-up, I hadn't looked too far ahead.

"I'll have to work back from November and map it out.

"He goes to the paddock now and we'll have a think about it and I'm sure he'll come back a better horse later on."
