THE SHARK SET FOR AUSTRALIAN DEBUT

Excitement machine, Te Akau Shark will make his Australian debut at Randwick on Saturday (Trish Dunell)

Exciting New Zealand galloper Te Akau Shark (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle) will kick-off his spring campaign in Australia on Saturday where he will contest the Gr.2 Tramway Stakes (1400m) at Randwick in front of some of his local owners, including Cronulla-Sutherland Sharks Captain Paul Gallen.

The five-year-old son of Rip Van Winkle pleased connections with his runner-up performance in the Gr.2

Foxbridge Plate (1200m) at Te Rapa last month and trainer Jamie Richards said he has settled in well to his new surroundings in Sydney.

"He has travelled over in good order and he's worked up well. We are here to do our best.

"He has got very good form in New Zealand, but he obviously needs to step up to the mark to take that next step when he comes up against the big boys over here in Sydney.

"He's doing well in himself, is bright and happy and his coat has come on since he has been here. We are happy leading into the run but have a lot of respect for the opposition as well."

Te Akau Shark will be ridden by James McDonald on Saturday and the expat Kiwi jockey was impressed with how he worked on Tuesday morning.

"He's a pretty casual character.

He floated around the course proper really," McDonald said.

"He was very adaptable to his leads and got this way around really well. I couldn't fault him at this stage and hopefully he lives up to his expectations.

"He's a pretty professional sort of horse. He swapped and changed legs very easily and was very balanced around the bends so I can't see it being an issue."

Meanwhile, stablemate Probabeel (NZ) (Savabeel) will have her first run this season in the Gr.2 Furious Stakes (1200m) and Richards is wary coming up against in-form filly Libertini (I Am Invincible).

"James rode her on Tuesday morning as well on the course proper he was happy enough with how she worked," Richards said.

"She is not the flashiest of track workers. It's going to be hard to beat the good filly Libertini, but when we get to 1400m and a mile in her next couple of starts she will be very competitive.

"She's a little bit backward coming out of our winter with her coat, but she is really starting to lose it around her muzzle and eyes now.

"She has been here a couple of weeks and we are glad we have got her over here nice and early to get a bit of sun on her back. She's going the right way."

Probabeel has drawn gate one in a small but select field of seven, while Te Akau Shark has drawn barrier 10 in a field of 14, with nine of the runners from the Chris Waller stable.

Richards is also looking forward to Avantage (Fastnet Rock) joining the pair later on in the spring but was slightly disappointed with her runner-up performance at Ruakaka on Saturday.

"Avantage is at home and we are planning to bring her over," he said. "Unfortunately, she got beaten first-up over the weekend, but she just didn't have everything in her favour."

TAVISAN AIMING FOR FIRST STAKES SCALP

Tavisan will be aiming to add a black-type victory to his tally when he competes in the Listed Strathmore Community Bendigo Bank Stakes at Moonee Valley on Saturday (Bruno Cannatelli)

Multiple stakes-placed gelding Tavisan (NZ) (Tavistock) will be aiming to add a black-type victory to his tally when he competes in the Listed Strathmore Community Bendigo Bank Stakes (1200m) at Moonee Valley on Saturday.

The Mick Price and Michael Kent Jr-trained four-year-old has been in fine form this preparation, recording two wins and a placing from three starts, including a two-length victory at Moonee Valley last start.

It was an all the way victory for the son of Tavistock and Price said it was a brilliant ride by regular rider Ben Melham.

"Melham came out to ride Tavisan a couple of weeks ago and said 'there's not much speed in this race, so I might just take it up', which was quite a brilliant jockey decision by him I thought," Price said.

"It worked really well that day because they sat up for the first half of the race and just allowed him to dash home."

Tavisan will carry 54kg on Saturday and as a result Melham has elected to take the ride aboard The Matthew Dale-trained Fell Swoop (Not A Single Doubt) who has been allocated 60kg.

"I don't know what Melham's ideal weight is, but that's the only reason (for the rider change)," Price said. "You lose nothing with Dwayne Dunn.”

While Tavisan led in his last start, Price isn’t convinced that will be the case on Saturday.

“It’s a bit different this race,” he said. “At about the 300 or 400m there could be two or three in front of him.

“He’s a brilliant beginner, I will just leave it to Dwayne. He usually rides with a good sense of timing and gets it right, but I’m not sure that he leads.”

Tavisan has been gelded since his three-year-old season and Price believes that has been a big assistance.

“He will certainly be competitive (on Saturday),” Price said. “He ran as a colt in a lot of his nice three-year-old stakes races and his run at Moonee Valley behind Brutal was very good.

“I think you should judge Tavisan on being a gelding now, not his previous form. You can see how consistent he is, he likes Moonee Valley and I wouldn’t be surprised if he won, but he will be competitive with these horses.”

Tavisan was purchased by Ontrack Thoroughbreds out of Hallmark Stud’s New Zealand Bloodstock 2017 Premier Yearling Sale draft for $135,000.

He commenced his racing career with Matamata trainer Jacob McKay before transferring across the Tasman.

NORTHERN WIN IN LOGAN'S SIGHTS

Lacustre will start one of the main fancies in Saturday's Network Visuals Great Northern Steeplechase at Ellerslie (Kirstin Ledington)

Fledgling trainer Samantha Logan will hunt her first Network Visuals Great Northern Steeplechase (6400m) win at Ellerslie on Saturday but don't presume this has been anything but meticulously planned.

Logan, a daughter of leading trainer Donna Logan and her late husband and training partner Dean, has been training professionally for just four years but the 27-year-old has already impressed astute judges with her success rate.

She will saddle last-start Pakuranga Hunt Cup (4900m) winner Lacustre (NZ) (Postponed) in Saturday's jumping showpiece, happy she has the Postponed eight-year-old gelding in perfect order.

"Winning the Pakuranga (Hunt Cup) was probably the best day I've had, just for a long-term plan to come to fruition," Logan said.

"We've been aiming at this double for 18 months and for it to start coming together like that, it was huge."

Logan learned much of her training craft from her mum, best known for preparing the likes of Group One flat stars Habibi (NZ) (Ekraar), Rising Romance (NZ) (Ekraar), Volkstok'n'barrel (NZ) (Tavistock) and Victory Smile (NZ) (Victory Dance), but also doing the early work with Great Northern Hurdles (4190m) runner-up Seeking The Silver (NZ) (Sakura Seeking).

"I've just learned how to train

jumpers from watching Mrs (Anne) Brown and Craig Thornton, Harvey and Ann Wilson, and Paul Nelson. I watched how they placed their horses," she said.

"I looked up past winners of the Great Northern Steeples such as Amanood Lad and Hypnotize and spoke to Garry Cossey and we've just followed similar campaigns to them.

"He's travelled as few miles as possible and we haven't had to expose him too much."

That means Lacustre, a winner of two of his eight steeplechases and placed in the McGregor Grant Steeples (4150m) at Ellerslie in June, goes into the Great Northern on the 65kg minimum, with Pakuranga Hunt Cup-winning jockey Shaun Phelan retaining the ride.

"He's really well. I haven't done a lot with him since Pakuranga and he's ticking along nicely," Logan said.

"That race brought him along nicely and he's a happy horse. He's just as well as he was going into Pakuranga and it's a very similar field.

"I'm looking forward to it but I'm a bit nervous. I just want it to be over now. You just get worried about small silly things but he's 100 percent and we've got to keep him that way."

Logan said she had no special formula for training jumpers and prepared Lacustre for the Great Northern Steeples just as she would prepare any flat galloper for an upcoming race.

"You've just got to get them fit and keep them sound and then it's just down to whether they are the right type of horse," Logan said.

"He didn't win his maiden till he got to 1900m and he's just got an economical galloping style. His heart rate never gets too high, even from going up Brownes' hill. He's just got that natural stamina.

"He wasn't a great jumper early on. That's why we messed around with him over hurdles for so long, improving his jumping, which has really helped."

While her recent success with jumpers has raised Logan's profile, she's just as adept with a flat galloper.

"I'll take on whatever comes through the gate," she said.

"I love jumps racing and love the people in jumps racing but my real passion is flat racing."

TAB bookmakers have Lacustre as a $2.70 favourite for the Great Northern Steeples ahead of Max (NZ) (Gallant Guru) and The Arabian Duke (NZ) (Bachelor Duke), both at $4.40.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Blue Breeze (NZ) (Bullbars)

Flaunting (NZ) (Showcasing)

Morley going with the Breeze in Australia

If you don't go, you won't know. That's the mindset South Auckland trainer Allan Morley is taking with Melbourne Cup aspirant Blue Breeze (NZ) (Bullbars) as he prepares to kick-off his spring campaign in Australia on Friday.

The six-year-old stayer will contest the Listed Wyong Gold Cup (2100m), the first of four lead-up races to his ultimate goal, the Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m) in November.

The gelding, who placed in three stakes races last term including the Gr.1 Auckland Cup (3200m), has pleased Morley with how he has settled into his new surroundings at Wyong. Full story here

Lucky For All works hard for Valley return

After taking over the training of Lucky For All (NZ) (Tavistock) trainer Mick Price sent the four-time winner back to school.

A former member of disqualified trainer Darren Weir's yard, Lucky For All was transferred to Price and training partner Mick Kent jr for his current campaign.

Lucky For All makes his racetrack return at The Valley on Saturday in the Drummond Golf Handicap (1600m) having not started since being well in the market and finishing a fading 11th in last year's Listed Ballarat Cup (2200m).

"We've done a fair bit of dressage, equestrian work with him to get him balanced, get a nice top line on him," Price said.

"That was his problem when with Weiry, he'd want to spear in.

"I like that equestrian work. It's good for them. It's good work for their brain."

The trainer watched Lucky For All in a gallop at The Valley on Tuesday and said he was "gun barrel straight".

"He's as good as gold now," Price said.

"He's a nice horse and once he gets fit, a race over 2000m would be ideal."

Greene heads to Wanganui to flaunt star filly

She may have earned her stripes on the heavy tracks of winter but Hamilton trainer David Greene believes Flaunting (NZ) (Showcasing) possesses the good track ability to be competitive in November's Gr.1 gavelhouse.com New Zealand 1000 Guineas (1600m) at Riccarton.

A winner of two of her six starts, the Showcasing filly won the Listed Castletown Stakes (1200m) at Wanganui in June before second placings at Te Rapa and in the Listed Ryder Stakes (1200m) at Otaki, all on heavy tracks this winter.

She had finished second to subsequent Group One winner Yourdeel (NZ) (Dundeel) on a dead track on debut last December before winning a Matamata maiden, also on dead footing, at her next start. Full story here

Ugly Warrior (NZ) (Swiss Ace)

Difficult task for Ugly Warrior

The task for New Zealand-bred Hong Kong raider Ugly Warrior (NZ) (Swiss Ace) in this weekend's KOR Gr.1 Korea Sprint (1200m) got a little harder when he drew barrier 12 for the 1200m dash.

Trainer Me Tsui looked on as Pat Ching, manager for the Just Fantastic Syndicate, pulled the 12 ball for Ugly Warrior. That was several berths wider than the handler was hoping for, but then again, his Fight Hero was beaten only a whisker by Moanin in last year's edition after racing wide from gate 13.

"It's still better than drawing one, two or three," Tsui said. "Being outside means he won't feel the pressure from other horses and that's good because he doesn't like it when horses press him on his outside.

"If you watch his races, when he breaks and when horses come up fast outside, he worries a little bit. He'll have plenty of room and space from 12 to cross in."

Ugly Warrior is a proven dirt track specialist at Sha Tin with six wins from nine starts on that surface. Seoul's sand will be a different proposition, however, and the five-year-old will also have to contend with unknown rivals.

Caithness Kid (NZ) (Keeper)

Guineas tilt for impressive maiden winner

Three-year-old gelding Caithness Kid (NZ) (Keeper) will get his first opportunity at stakes level when he lines-up in the Listed HS Dyke Wanganui Guineas (1340m) on Saturday.

The son of Keeper put in an eye-catching run late to win his first-up run at Matamata last week although trainer Karen Nicholson believes he still has a bit to learn.

"I felt he was still a little bit green and a little bit hesitant," she said. "I thought they would be a bit quick for him, but he just settles naturally. It's quite uncanny really.

Brideoake bullish with Princess Jenni

plum prize during this year's Melbourne Spring Carnival and is pleased with her current progress.

"I'm very pleased" he said.

"She's the headline act and has massive upside.

"We spelled her in Queensland and she's come back down south with a really good coat.

"We've given her a trial at Cranbourne (8th of 11 over 800m) and a gallop at Sandown and she's in really good shape.

"She's two weeks away from kicking off in the Let's Elope (Gr.2, 1400m). We probably won't stretch her out over a great deal of distance this spring but she'll have a nice run and will culminate in going to the Myer (now Empire Rose Stakes Gr.1, 1600m) on Derby Day over the mile."

Quick Thinker (So You Think)

Baker-Forsman switch focus to Victoria

Cambridge trainers Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman kicked-off their Australian spring in the best possible fashion on Saturday with Quick Thinker (So You Think) taking out the Gr.3 Ming Dynasty Quality (1400m) at Rosehill and the champion trainers will turn their attention to Victoria later this week as their next wave of spring hopefuls step out for the first time.

"We have got three in Melbourne that flew over on Sunday morning," Baker said.

"Long Jack races at Ballarat on Friday in a 1400m maiden and will be ridden by Damian Lane. He is a nice three-year-old that we think might stay a bit." Full story here

Coming Through (NZ) (El Hermano)

Coming Through his grades with tougher assignment

Just like most Kranji racegoers on hand three weeks ago, trainer Desmond Koh was suitably impressed by Coming Through's (NZ) (El Hermano) emphatic debut win but remained realistic it may not be the same one-way traffic second-up this Friday.

The Singaporean handler couldn't fault the way Coming Through has trained on since that first win, which came in a 1100m race in Open Maiden company on August 16, but the S$75,000 Novice race over 1200m - on Polytrack again - will be a different kettle of fish, he said.

"It's much tougher this time," Koh said.

Miss Federer (NZ) (Swiss Ace)

Miss Federer to commence spring campaign

Riccarton trainer Andrew Carston is expecting a bold showing fresh-up from multiple stakes winner Miss Federer (NZ), as the well-named daughter of Swiss Ace commences a spring campaign on her home track on Saturday in the NZ Bloodstock Three-Year-Old (1000m).

The Christchurch-horseman, who won 21 races last season, cautioned that Miss Federer would be entering the event without a trial.

"I'm as happy as I can be," Carston said.

Bullybrook (NZ) (Bullbars)

Local double for Gavin

Pukekohe trainer Ray Gavin picked up a winning double at his local meeting on Wednesday courtesy of two plum rides by Rowena Smyth.

She kicked home $38 outsider Innamincka (NZ) (Lucy Unicorn) to win the Dunstan Horse Feeds 1600 before securing an all the way victory aboard $2.50 favourite Bullybrook (NZ) (Bullbars) in the Haunui Farm 1200.

It was the first win for Bullybrook, who had been runner-up in his first two races, with Gavin relieved to get that maiden win out of the way.

"We expected this one (Bullybrook) to win and not the other one, so we were a bit wary after the first win," Gavin said.

"Bullybrook is a really tough horse and he does everything right. I would have expected him not to make a two or three-year-old and to come on later on, but it looks like he is doing it early, so that's good."

Bullybrook is likely to have one more start this preparation before he heads to the spelling paddock.

"He's going to go out shortly, but I would expect maybe another race at Ellerslie at the end of the month, we will see how we go," Gavin said.

Daffodil Raceday raises record funds for Cancer Society

Tarzino Trophy TAB Daffodil Raceday raised $40,000 for Hawke's Bay cancer patients and their families, surpassing the previous fundraising record of $36,000 set last year.

"We are in shock. Good shock! $40,000 will have a massive impact in helping to provide services for Hawke's Bay patients and their whanau," Hawke's Bay Cancer Society Acting Centre Manager Chris Franklyn said.

"We can't speak highly enough of the commitment and passion of the team at Hawke's Bay Racing and the TAB, who again, have exceeded all expectations. Full story here out stable stars Vernanme (NZ) (O'Reilly) and Crown Prosecutor (Medaglia d'Oro) for the first time this season at Ruakaka on Saturday and he was pleased with what he saw.

Group One performer Vernanme finished runner-up to Mac Attacka (NZ) (Makfi) in the Harcourts Just Rentals (1400m) and Marsh said he will take a lot of benefit from the run.

"I was really happy with Vernanme, 1400m was always going to be short of his best," Marsh said.

"He took a little while to win as a maiden, so as a rating 82 it was a good effort. He jumped and put himself right in it and travelled beautifully. He is going to be a lot better over a mile second up.

"That will be at Counties in the open mile and he will get in nicely in handicap conditions."

Meanwhile, last season's Gr.1 New Zealand Derby (2400m) winner Crown Prosecutor finished sixth in the Harcourts Whangarei (1200m) and will now head to the second day of the Bostock New Zealand Spring Racing Carnival at Hastings later this month.

"I was happy with him, he did his best work at the line. We were just using it as a trial over the 1200m. He will step straight into the mile of the Windsor Park Plate (Gr.1, 1600m).

"He will have blinkers back on and we are expecting a big improvement there. I think the Livamol (Gr.1, 2040m) will be his real go."

Originally earmarked for an Australian campaign, Marsh said that trip could still be on the cards, however the last two legs of the Hawke's Bay triple crown remain his primary goals at this stage.

"We were going to take Crown Prosecutor over early but have decided to run him here first. It is definitely at the back of our minds, Australia, and we will just take each race as it comes."

Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands)

Bosson back on Belle

Fortuna Syndications Director, John Galvin, has confirmed Opie Bosson will ride Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) in the second leg of the Hawke's Bay Racing Triple Crown, the Gr.1 Windsor Park Plate (1600m), taking over from Michael McNab who has ridden the mare in her past two outings, including last Saturday's comprehensive victory in the Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy (1400m).

"Opie has declared himself available to ride for us on September 21," Galvin said.

"Opie is the number one stable rider for Te Akau Racing, he is unbeaten on Melody Belle and we are glad to have him back aboard.

"We are extremely grateful for the fantastic ride that Michael McNab gave her in the Tarzino Trophy in Opie's absence."

The winner of seven Group One races, Melody Belle has come through her Tarzino Trophy victory in good shape and after a couple of quiet days in the paddock, she is now back in full work.

Marsh pleased with quality pair

Cambridge trainer Stephen Marsh stepped

Helena Baby (NZ) (Guillotine)

Late Windsor Park Plate entry for Helena Baby

Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy (1400m) placegetter Helena Baby (NZ) (Guillotine) will get his shot at redemption against victor Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) later this month.

Helena Baby wasn't among the initial nominations for the Gr.1 Windsor Park Plate (1600m) on September 21 as he was originally set to be flown to Hong Kong after contesting last Saturday's Tarzino Trophy, in which he finished a game third to Melody Belle.

"He was to be vetted this morning (Monday) and go into quarantine tomorrow, but I sent an email to his owner CY Lee last night and put forward a case for him to stay and run in the Windsor Park Plate," trainer John Bell said. Full story here
