STAR MARE MELODY BELLE DOMINATES HORSE OF THE YEAR VOTING

Newly crowned New Zealand Horse of the Year, Melody Belle (Trish Dunell)

Glamour galloper Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) has added the New Zealand Horse of the Year title to her growing list of achievements.

The Matamata mare was an almost unanimous choice for Horse of the Year, which was announced at the New Zealand Thoroughbred Horse of the Year Awards, in Auckland on Sunday night.

Of the 61 votes cast for Horse of the Year, Melody Belle received 59, with one apiece for stablemate Te Akau Shark

(NZ) (Rip Van Winkle) and Bostonian (NZ) (Jimmy Choux), who was a dual Group One winner in Australia.

Melody Belle was also named Champion Sprinter-Miler for the 2018-19 season and was narrowly beaten by Danzandzandance (Mastercraftsman) in the middle-distance category.

Yourdeel (NZ) (Dundeel), a stablemate of Melody Belle, was named Champion Two-Year-Old, with Madison County

(NZ) (Pins) (three-year-old), Glory Days (NZ) (Red Giant) (stayer) and Jackfrost (NZ) (Gallant Guru) (Jumper) taking the other horse categories.

Opie Bosson, who won six Group One races, headed off premiership winner Lisa Allpress by four votes in a tight battle for Champion Jockey. It was a fifth win for Bosson and came 21 years after his first.

Champion trainer Murray Baker, who had trained the previous five Horse of the Year winners, received the prestigious Contribution to Racing award. Baker has had a long and successful career and has won more Group One races in Australia than any other New Zealand trainer.

Baker and his training partner Andrew Forsman have won almost 600 races over the past five seasons and set new benchmarks in terms of wins, stake earnings and black-type wins. They have won 105 back type races over that period, including 78 Group races, with 23 at Group One level. The stable's stake earnings for the period have topped $25 million.

Melody Belle broke the recent pattern by earning the Horse of the Year title without leaving the country. The previous eight Horse of the Year winners had underlined their credentials by recording at least one Group One victory in Australia during the season.

However, Melody Belle presented an irresistible case with a near faultless four-year-old campaign, which produced six

Contribution To Racing winner, Murray Baker (Trish Dunell)

Group wins from eight starts, ranging in distance from 1200m to 2000m.

She was a dominant force at weight-for-age level, with six wins from six weight-for-age outings, including a record five Group One wins. The Group race structure has been operating in New Zealand since the 1977-78 season and Melody Belle is the first horse to win five Group One races in a single New Zealand season.

She won the first two legs of the Hawke's Bay Triple Crown in the spring and maintained her form in the latter half of the season, capping her campaign by beating the Zabeel Classic winner Danzdanzdance in the 2000m Bonecrusher Stakes, which was Melody Belle's first race past 1600m.

No other New Zealand-trained horse won more than two Group One races in the 2018-19 season and only Bostonian, who recorded his sprint double in Brisbane, was able to record a Group One win in Australia.

Melody Belle has already made a mark in the new season, with a stunning win in the Group One Tarzino Trophy (1400m) at Hastings on August 31 and looks to be a real chance of becoming the first horse to win the Hastings Triple Crown.

The Commands mare, who was bred by veteran breeder Marie Leicester, is trained by Jamie Richards and raced by the Fortuna Melody Belle Syndicate, which is managed by syndicator John Galvin. The syndicate has 37 shareholders.

Melody Belle was a $57,500 yearling buy and her second Tarzino win took her career earnings to $1.75 million.

Danzdanzdance shaded Melody Belle by two votes in the middle-distance category. In addition to winning the Zabeel Classic and being runner-up in the Bonecrusher Stakes, Danzdanzdance was placed in the Gr.1 Ranvet Stakes (2000m) in Sydney and the Gr.1 Livamol Classic (2040m) at Hastings. She was also a Group One winner at 1600m, in the Captain Cook Stakes.

Yourdeel, a dual Group One winner, comfortably headed off stablemate Probabeel (NZ) (Savabeel) for the two-year-old title, a trophy won by Melody Belle in 2017.

Madison County, another dual Group One winner and runner-up in the Gr.1 Australian Derby (2400m), gained all but one of the votes cast in the three-year-old category and Gr.1

Auckland Cup (2400m) winner Glory Days, who is a potential Melbourne Cup contender this spring, was an almost unanimous choice for Champion Stayer.

Madison County is prepared at Cambridge by Murray Baker and his training partner Andrew Forsman, who were named Trainers of the Year for the third successive year and the fourth time in the last five years.

Wellington owner Lib Petagna, who races under the JML Bloodstock banner, was voted Owner of the Year for the fourth successive year. Petagna had 14 winners or stakes-placed horses, from 26 runners, including two Group One winners and three group placegetters.

He had a 50 percent share in New Zealand Derby winner Crown Prosecutor (Medaglia D'Oro) and raced NZ Breeders' Stakes winner Nicoletta (NZ) (Savabeel) on his own.

The deeds of champion Hong Kong galloper Beauty Generation (NZ) (Road To Rock) were reflected in the two major breeding awards. Nearco Stud, which bred Beauty Generation, was Breeder of the Year and Beauty Generation's dam, Stylish Bel, was Broodmare of the Year.

Beauty Generation, a son of Road To Rock, was unbeaten in eight starts in Hong Kong in the 2018-19 season and is third-equal in the 2019 world thoroughbred rankings.

Nearco Stud, which is owned by South Island businessman Greg Tomlinson, was also represented by the Group Two winner Belle du Nord (NZ) (Reliable Man) and the Group Three winner Miss Federer (NZ) (Swiss Ace).

PLEASING RESULTS FOR KIWI CONTINGENT IN AUSTRALIA

Te Akau Shark closes well late into second (No.2) behind easy winner Dreamforce in the Gr.2 Tramway Stakes (bradleyphotos.com.au)

Despite not managing to put a win on the board, members of the New Zealand contingent that launched their assault on the riches of the Australian spring racing carnivals in Sydney and Melbourne were happy with their showings on Saturday.

Te Akau Racing mentor Jamie Richards produced Te Akau Shark (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle) and Probabeel (NZ) (Savabeel) at Royal Randwick, with their second and fourth placings respectively delighting their trainer.

"I was very pleased with both their runs on a day where there was a bias towards those who were in or near the lead most of the day," Richards said.

"Probabeel just got caught in a tricky spot in a small field. We had wanted her to make her challenge a little wider in the straight but circumstances saw her having to stay on the fence.

"We know that she is going to be better suited once she steps up in distance but I thought she fought on nicely and will take benefit from the run.

"She will head to the Tea Rose Stakes (Gr.2, 1400m) in a fortnight for her next run."

The highly-regarded Te Akau Shark opened his Australian campaign with a fighting effort for second in the Gr.2 Tramway Stakes (1400m) and will now head straight into the Gr.1 Epsom Handicap (1600m) back at Randwick on October 5.

"He (Te Akau Shark) was very good as he was another that wasn't suited by the up and in pattern of racing on the day," Richards said.

"He had a horse laying all over him most of the way, which didn't help, but I just liked the way he closed it off in the last piece to claim second.

"He is a horse that goes best on the fresh side so he will go straight into the Epsom in a month."

Fresh from success with impressive three-year-old Long Jack (So You Think), who made a winning Australian debut at Ballarat on Friday, co-trainer Murray Baker was also in a positive frame of mind as he outlined his thoughts on the performance of The Chosen One (NZ) (Savabeel) at Moonee Valley on Saturday.

The four-year-old Savabeel entire was having his first run since winning the Gr.3 Frank Packer Plate (2000m) at Randwick back in April and overcame a wide run throughout to finish a gritty fifth in the Gr.2 Feehan Stakes (1600m).

"I thought his run was very good as he was the only four-year-old in the race, up against the older horses and was caught out wide most of the way," Baker said.

"He kept coming nicely in the run home when he had every excuse to chuck it away a little.

"Provided he comes through the race alright, I think we might head to the Underwood Stakes (Gr.1 1800m) for his next start.

"It's a favourite race of mine as I've won it four times so it would be nice to make it five."

Baker, who trains in partnership with Andrew Forsman, also advised that multiple Group One winner Madison County (NZ) (Pins) would make his campaign debut in the Gr.1 Rupert Clarke Stakes (1400m) at Caulfield on September 21 while their Sydney-based three-year-olds Quick Thinker (So You Think) and Rhaegar (Pluck) would be seen next in the Gr.3 Gloaming Stakes (1800m) at Rosehill on September 28.

Matamata trainer Lance O'Sullivan was also upbeat despite his Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m) candidate Sir Charles Road (Myboycharlie) finishing amongst the tail-enders in the Gr.2. Chelmsford Stakes (1600m) at Randwick.

"He never really got the rub of the green and had a pretty chequered path over the last 600m," O'Sullivan said.

"It was his second run back this time and he looks a picture of health so we are expecting he will bounce back pretty quickly.

"He is looking for more ground so we will be stepping him up over further for his next start."

PRINCESS JENNI TO RESUME IN LET'S ELOPE

Group One winner Princess Jenni (NZ) (High Chaparral) is set to launch her spring campaign in the Gr.2 Let's Elope Stakes (1400m) at Flemington.

The winner of four of her seven starts, Princess Jenni took out the Gr.1 Australasian Oaks (2000m) in Adelaide in May and resumes on Saturday in the Group Two 1400m-race for mares for her first start since being unplaced in the Gr.1 Queensland Oaks (2200m).

Her preparation has included a Cranbourne barrier trial and a recent race day gallop at Sandown.

Trainer David Brideoake is looking forward to taking her back to the races.

"She's our number one hope for the spring," Brideoake said.

"Her lead-up work has all been good and I would expect a pretty good showing first-up.

"She has furnished really well after some time resting in Queensland. She is not fully furnished yet but she is coming along really well."

Brideoake is looking to give Princess Jenni a relatively light spring, with the G.1 Empire Rose Stakes (1600m) at Flemington during the Melbourne Cup Carnival in his thoughts.

He believes she has the sharpness to be competitive over the 1400m on Saturday.

"She will be sharp enough and then we would progress towards the (Empire Rose Stakes) I would say," he said.

"But we're keeping a few options open. We'll just see how the first couple of runs go."

The trainer is convinced Princess Jenni will get better again next autumn with more time to furnish.

"That big frame she has got, when she is fully furnished we've got a lot to look forward to," he said.

Damien Oliver rode Princess Jenni in all five of her starts during her previous preparation and continues the association in the Let's Elope. AAP

ROGERSON UPBEAT DESPITE LOSS OF TOP PERFORMER

Trainer Graeme Rogerson is looking forward to the second day of the Bostock New Zealand Spring Racing Carnival at Hastings later this month despite the unfortunate loss of progressive five-year-old Comeback (NZ) (Makfi).

The Makfi gelding was humanely euthanised following his gritty run for sixth in the Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy (1400m) at Hastings on August 31 after sustaining a slab fracture in his left fore carpal joint during the closing stages of the contest.

“He was very brave and it’s such a shame we couldn’t save him after he suffered his injury,” Rogerson said.

“I guess that is racing, where you have to take the good with the bad, but it is a tough old game when this sort of thing happens. He was a genuine and much-loved horse.”

Team Rogerson will likely have only one runner in the feature attraction at Hastings on September 21 with four-year-old gelding More Wonder (NZ) (Mossman) set to take his place in the Gr.1 Windsor Park Plate (1600m) following his midfield finish in the Tarzino Trophy.

“He (More Wonder) didn’t get a lot of luck in the run home as he was hampered by Comeback when he faltered,” Rogerson said.

“I was pleased without being delighted by the run, but he has worked up nicely since then and we’re hopeful of a better effort in the Windsor Park Plate.”

Team Rogerson will also be represented by promising sprinter Malambo (NZ) (Duelled) who will tackle the open 1200m contest on the day.

Meanwhile talented three-year-old Aalaalune (NZ) (Reliable Man) will miss the second day at Hastings with the Reliable Man filly having a brief freshen up before commencing a campaign focussed on the New Zealand Bloodstock Filly of the Year series.

“We sat down and had a good chat with her owner and we decided to give her a little time off before her next run,” Rogerson said.

“She can have a freshen up and then will most likely go to either the Soliloquy Stakes (Gr.3, 1400m) at Ellerslie or the Sarten Memorial (Gr.2, 1400m) at Te Rapa in October.

“From there we will concentrate on the Filly of the Year series with the 1000 Guineas (Gr.1, 1600m) at Riccarton her main focus to start with.”

Rogerson was also delighted with the debut performance of Aalaalune’s little sister, De La Terre (NZ) (Reliable Man), who was narrowly beaten in the first two-year-old contest of the season at Wanganui on Saturday.

“She (De La Terre) went a beauty and might have even won the race if she hadn’t been slightly impeded by another horse coming to the home bend,” he said.

“We really like her and she seems to have inherited plenty of the family ability.

“Provided she comes through the race well, she will go to the Wellesley Stakes (Listed, 1000m) at Trentham next month.”

Rogerson also advised that last season’s Gr.1 Telegraph (1200m) runner-up, Ferrando (NZ) (Fast ‘N’ Famous) was making good progress in his current build-up and would be seen at the trials in the next few weeks once track conditions had improved.

AUTRIDGE DELIGHTED WITH START TO SOUTHERN MISSION

Woodcote Lass scores first-up in the South Island for owner Kevin Hickman (Race Images South)

A gritty win by promising filly Woodcote Lass (NZ) (Showcasing) at Riccarton on Saturday has kicked off Matamata trainer Stephen Autridge's southern campaign in the best possible style.

Autridge has based a five-strong team at Riccarton for the past few weeks as they get ready to tackle some of the feature events at November's New Zealand Cup & Show Week for owner Kevin Hickman.

Autridge's contingent is spearheaded by Gr.1 Gavelhouse.com New Zealand 1000 Guineas (1600m) nominees Woodcote Lass and Last Hoorah (NZ) (No Excuse Needed), while he also has three mares bought by Hickman in England in Red Chois (Choisir), Blue Valley (Lope De Vega) and Unbeatable Dancer (Invincible Spirit) on hand.

Woodcote Lass and Last Hoorah clashed in Saturday's NZ Bloodstock Three-Year-Old (1000m) contest with Woodcote Lass prevailing in a stirring battle with Miss Federer (NZ) (Swiss Ace) while Last Hoorah closed off nicely to finish 8th in her raceday debut.

"I was pleased with both runs as they went as we had expected," Autridge said.

"Woodcote Lass is just a real little professional and is always up for a fight.

"She is very relaxed in her manner at home but she is tough and seems to thrive when she is in a scrap.

"Last Hoorah is more of a staying filly that won't be at her best until she steps up to 1400m and further.

"She got home nicely so it was a good debut effort."

Autridge believes that Showcasing filly Woodcote Lass also has the natural attributes to see out the 1600m distance of the 1000 Guineas despite her pedigree suggesting she is better suited to the sprint distances.

“She has always shown us plenty of talent and when she gets on good ground, I think she will be even better,” he said.

“She beat a smart type in Quick Thinker when she won her first race on a wet track at Rotorua and I don’t think she appreciated the Heavy10 on Saturday that much either.

“She just goes out there to win and takes it all in her stride but the way she relaxes in her races suggests to me that she will see out 1600m.

“We have talked to her race and trackwork riders and they are of the same opinion.

“She will go to the Canterbury Belle Stakes (Listed, 1200m) next and then we will step her up in distance after that as we track towards the Guineas.”

Meanwhile Autridge’s three-year-old classic contender Kurt (NZ) (Kingman) has hit a snag in his build-up to a possible tilt at the Gr.1 Al Basti Equiworld New Zealand 2000 Guineas (1600m) following a lacklustre performance at Hastings last week.

“I wasn’t that happy with his run at Hastings on the first day of their carnival as he seemed to be in a little discomfort when he pulled up,” Autridge said.

“He got twisted sideways early in the race and never really hit-out after that so we are taking him to the vet clinic on Monday for a thorough going over.

“If there is something troubling him, they should be able to find it and we can then make plans from there.

“Hopefully it is just a niggles and we can keep him on a Guineas path.”
